TRAUMA & GENDER

Deepen your understanding of gender-responsive and trauma-informed care and build your skill set at this national conference. Stephanie Covington's programs respond to the unique needs of women, men, and girls in the fields of behavioral health, addiction, mental health, trauma treatment, and criminal justice. These programs have been implemented in addiction programs, schools, correctional settings, community programs, and mental health facilities.

At the center of this conference is 1 of 5 treatment interventions that you choose for your core 2-day curriculum. These workshops are not just presentations but interactive! The therapeutic curricula you learn are designed for group programs but can be adapted to use for individual therapy or for a staff training. Stephanie Covington, Ph.D., and her certified trainers will be available throughout the conference for additional guidance.

Although the emphasis is on your core curriculum, you will also be supported with additional gender-responsive and trauma-informed events with Dr. Covington, implementation tips, evening events and curricula, and networking with professionals from across the United States. The 2017 conference planner, The Connecticut Women's Consortium, is well known for providing education in behavioral health and will be offering additional opportunities for learning, self-care, fun, and trips to the Mystic Seaport!

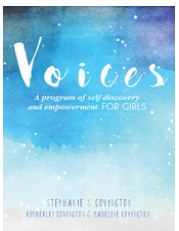
FOR CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Many of Stephanie Covington's curriculua have editions specifically for the criminal justice community including Helping Men Recover, Helping Women Recover, and Beyond Violence. Healing Trauma & Exploring Trauma were designed for short-term settings with correctional facilities in mind.

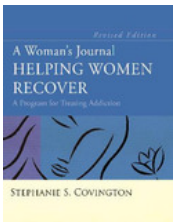
Core Curricula



GIRLS & EMPOWERMENT

1. VOICES

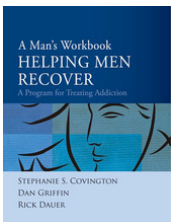
CANDICE NORCOTT & TAMMY ROTHSCHILD - The 1st training on the newly revised 2017 edition! Voices is a trauma-informed, 18 session program with topics that include developing a positive sense of self, building healthy relationships, substance abuse, wellness, sexuality and planning for a positive future. Trauma is also addressed. Voices can be used in schools, treatment facilities, and juvenile justice settings.



WOMEN & ADDICTION

2. HELPING WOMEN RECOVER

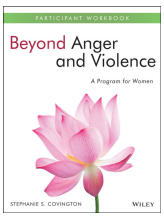
CAROL ACKLEY - A 17 session, evidence-based treatment model that integrates theories of addiction, women's psychological development, and trauma. This curriculum is strengths-based and responsive to women's gender-specific needs for healing and support. The criminal justice version will also be discussed.



MEN & ADDICTION

3. HELPING MEN RECOVER

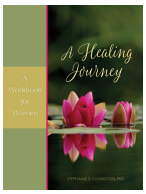
RICK DAUER & ROBERTO RODRIGUEZ - The first gender-responsive and trauma-informed treatment curriculum for men! This 18 session program addresses male socialization in recovery, the relational needs of men, and abuse and trauma. Implementation for corrections will also be discussed.

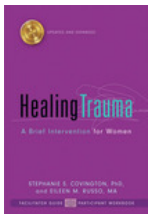


WOMEN & ANGER

4. BEYOND ANGER & VIOLENCE

EILEEN RUSSO - A 21 session, research-based curriculum for women who are struggling with anger. Beyond Anger & Violence is the first manualized intervention for women that focuses on their own anger, as well as the anger and violence they may have experienced from others. Beyond Violence, the criminal justice version is also discussed.





WOMEN & TRAUMA

5. BEYOND TRAUMA & HEALING TRAUMA

TWYLA WILSON - The newly revised 12 session Beyond Trauma program for women incorporates the insights of neuroscience with the latest understanding of trauma and PTSD. Each session has also been adapted for girls. The program uses cognitive-behavioral techniques (CBT), mindfulness, expressive arts and body-oriented exercises (inc. yoga). The abbreviated 6 session version, Healing Trauma, will also be discussed.
