What are trusts?

A trust is a legal relationship where one person or organisation, called the trustee is responsible for safeguarding assets for another person or organisation, called the beneficiary.

How do trusts work?

Generally trusts are established by a deed that sets out the terms of the trust and specifies:

- who can receive benefits from the trust (the beneficiaries)
- when the beneficiaries can receive benefits from the trust
- how the beneficiaries should receive the benefits.

What types of trusts can State Trustees help me with?

There are different types of trusts you can establish, each of which is designed to achieve a different outcome. State Trustees can help you choose the most appropriate type of trust to best meet your needs.

The most common trust types are:

- Testamentary Trust: established by your Will to manage your Estate's assets and income for your beneficiaries after you die.
- Minor's Trust: designed to manage and protect assets for a child until they reach a specified age.
- Inter-Vivos Trust: set up during your lifetime to support beneficiaries, such as a family member with disabilities.
- Injury and Compensation Trust: designed to protect and manage money paid in compensation for the beneficiary's injury, such as WorkCover or TAC.
- Superannuation Minor's Trust: established after you die to leave a share of your superannuation to a child.
- Special Disability Trust: set up to help immediate family members and guardians provide for the future of children with a disability.
- Charitable Trust: designed to provide on-going benefits to eligible charitable organisations or charitable purposes.

Acting as your trustee

- You can appoint State Trustees to be your trustee. With the support of our in-house taxation, legal and finance experts, we can fulfil all the activities and responsibilities required of your trustee.
- As trustee, we can manage a trust's accounts, maintain its records, prepare tax returns, and where property assets are involved, we can arrange for rent collection, insurance, maintenance, rates and land tax.

- For existing trusts, you can appoint us as trustee, where the existing trustee wishes to retire due to health, age, or location.
- As an independent trustee, State Trustees will act in the best interest of your trust's beneficiaries at all times.

Charitable giving through the State Trustees Australia Foundation

- You can make regular tax deductible donations to specific charitable causes through the State Trustees Australia Foundation.
- A sub-fund within the Foundation helps enable you to direct your philanthropy without needing to establish and administer your own Private Charitable Trust.
