

Kids for Life

HAVE YOU HAD A HARD DAY?

“ My name is Andrew and I run my own landscaping business and am also the trustee of a charity, Kids for Life, which is helping to raise money for young people affected by cancer and life threatening illnesses. I am emailing you to make a polite request that could be the difference between life and death for a child with cancer here in the UK.

My request is to other people in similar jobs to myself to donate a day's wages to Kids for Life. That's right – to spend a day up a ladder, down a hole, in a tree, banging your thumb with a hammer, getting covered in plaster....whatever it is that you do I'm asking you to spend a day doing it for Kids for Life!

SO HAVE THEY....

“ I'm asking you to remember that although a day's hard work is a lot to give up; these kids also have a lot of tough days. Days where they are given blood transfusions, take medicine that makes them feel sick, days away from their families surrounded by surgeons and doctors. These are days that they have to go through in order to have a chance of many more days and years of being alive. The treatment and the technology involved is incredibly expensive and we are doing what we can to help to fund it – please help us by doing what you do best to help us!

And it doesn't need to be a full day's pay either, please give anything you can to help, all the money will go towards helping one of the many organisations and charities in Great Britain that do all they can to save the lives of children with a life threatening disease. Thank you in advance.
