

LOCAL ASSEMBLY of SOMEWHEREVILLE EGALITARIANS

NOTICE

THAT IN AN EGALITARIAN SOMEWHEREVILLE IT WOULD BE THE LAW THAT

Somewhereville Decides With What Other Egalitarian Communities to Share Goods and Services According to Reasonable Need and Desire

A “sharing economy” is one in which all its members mutually agree to contribute reasonably according to ability, to share non-scarce goods and services for free, and equitably ration scarce things, all according to reasonable need and desire.

The Somewhereville Local Assembly of Egalitarians* may, if, when and on whatever terms it wishes, mutually agree with local assemblies of other communities to participate in a larger-than-local sharing economy, and may unilaterally stop participating whenever it sees fit.

Voluntary federation can facilitate such mutual agreements among millions or even billions of people.

* Egalitarians are those who support equality (no rich and no poor) and mutual aid.
