

PRESENTS
TURNING LEADERSHIP INSIDE-OUT
A NEW PARADIGM FOR LEADERS
WORKSHOP RETREAT IN AUCKLAND

Today's leaders continually face uncertainty. To be able to lead, coach and make the best quality decisions requires leaders to be insightful, creative, innovative and highly productive regardless of circumstances. How would it be if leading felt effortless rather than effortful? How can you create a culture of personal responsibility? Imagine how you would feel and how it would impact your people and business.

This workshop is not about management or leadership skills, instead it's about developing the qualities that enable effortless leadership. It will be valuable to those wanting to gain deeper mastery in their inner confidence, emotional resilience and/or well-being. It is also for those of you wishing to improve their ability to bring out the best in others and improve relationships both externally and internally of your business.

For anyone in a leadership role this workshop will have significant outcomes both professionally and personally.

Gilly is an award winning speaker, a facilitator of change, leadership coach and writer with over twenty-five years of global experience in leadership development. For the last 20+ years she has specialised in working with leaders to achieve transformational change for themselves and their businesses.

Her clients are from many different industries both in New Zealand and internationally such as insurance, banking, manufacturing, telecommunications, pharmaceutical, government departments, supply chain, schools and others.

Gilly says: Effortless Leadership helps you lead from that cool, calm and collected place, whatever your circumstances. We often see other people leading effortlessly and easily, and we wonder if we can ever do that ourselves. The answer is, yes you can, if you understand how your mind truly works. Once you understand that, everything else becomes easy and simpler.

Understanding this new paradigm, and its implications, is ground breaking for leaders and their organisations.

This workshop will:

- Provide a new paradigm on what underlies ALL human experience.
- Present the simple, but profound, logic creating our psychological system/state of mind or moment-to-moment experience, and how aligning ourselves with this logic opens us up to our true potential and clarity of mind.
- Ensure a relaxed, reflective environment aiming to stimulate insight-based learning
- Look at the implications for you, your people and your business.
- Demonstrate how this is applicable in all kinds of situations.

You will:

- Increase your understanding of the power of insight and leveraging this as a powerful resource for you and your business.
- Understand how the illusion of three different paradigms prevents, or assists you to be calm under pressure and create a healthy high performance culture.
- Explore how each person's state of mind has an impact on relationships, performance and productivity,
- Become a leader who is able to bring out the best in others – even those who seem 'stuck' in their ways.
- Learn about the implications for you and your people and the ability to be more creative and innovative in finding solutions regardless of circumstances.

A New Paradigm for Leadership

Does it work? This is cutting edge and proven. Clients who operate from this paradigmatic approach to leadership and change, have leapt ahead of their competitors. These include multinationals, medium and small sized privately-owned businesses, to government departments and schools. When leaders and their people have healthy states of mind they create a healthy high performance culture and it is lasting.

TURNING LEADERSHIP INSIDE-OUT A NEW PARADIGM FOR LEADERS WORKSHOP RETREAT IN AUCKLAND

Comments From Clients:

"The big differentiation between Gilly's and other 'management/ leadership' companies I have used, is that the approach is based on fundamental paradigms, whereas a lot of other companies are purely "technique" based, which at-best leads to short-term solutions".

Country Manager, Communications Industry

"My understanding of living from the inside-out has been life-changing for me. I didn't realise my thinking was getting in the way. Don't hold on to past thoughts. Living from the inside-out has taken me to a higher level of leadership and I now have a bigger team, more responsibility and enjoy growing the people in my team".

Technical Manager, Plastics Manufacturing Industry

"I've been studying the mind for a very long time. I've been using NLP (Neuro-Linguistic Programming) as a way of managing my emotional states so I can maximise my performance. I have found this new paradigm to be a game changer. It's made NLP redundant and my wellbeing and performance have achieved new heights".

Sales Manager, Education Industry, Australia

"I have been on many leadership courses through my career, however, I have got more out of Gilly's course than all of the others put together. The insights gained have brought benefit not only to my life at work but to the way I live my life. Having a calm mind enables improved decision making, greater clarity, better relationships and a more relaxed and happier disposition. Not a bad formula for a better life!"

General Manager, Education industry

"I recently attended this workshop and found it really changed the way I thought about my leadership role"

Managing Director, Manufacturing Industry

"Gilly has shown us that calmness and clarity of thinking are two vital components in making the right decisions. it's the vital ingredient that helps us see difficult situations in a far more positive state, therefore critical decisions are made with far more clarity, calmness and accuracy".

General Manager Sales, Plastics Industry, Australia

"The insight gained of understanding my thinking has had a profound effect on my work and the teams that I manage. So often we know that something is wrong, either with our own performance or the way the team is working, but don't know how to address it. Through understanding the way our thinking affects the world we create, we can produce the most amazing results".

Programme Director, Software Industry

The workshop is designed to be reflective, and insight-based. A safe enjoyable learning environment is the number one priority; however, everyone is invited to make the most of this opportunity and questions are encouraged. Rather than putting participants through uncomfortable training exercises, the emphasis is on the implications of this new paradigm for leaders. The structure of the workshop is very flexible to allow for in-depth discussion. The insights people gain may sometimes be simple yet profound.,

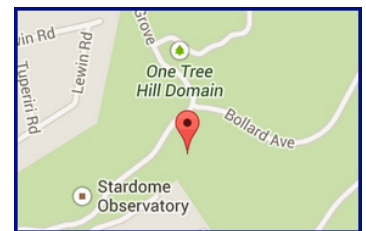

There will be options of a further half-day 'Masterclass' workshop and/or individual coaching sessions for those participants who wish to extend their learning.
