Dad said, "Good, good Bill. Come and help us.

We have work to do."

Dan said, "Dad, this is not work. This is fun.

It is fun to make hot dogs."

Mom said, "Here Bill, have a hot dog. Have one."

Bill said, "I want one, but I can't make it."

Mom said, "Maybe I can help you, Bill."

Bill said, "Thank you."

"Here Bill," said Mom, "Here is a hot dog for you."

Bill said, "This is a good hot dog. Thank you, thank you."

Good Job!

A Good Dog

“No, Happy, no!” said Dan. “Go away! Go away, Happy!.

Bill and I want the red ball. You can’t help us find it.”

Bill said, “I see a little blue ball.

But I can’t find a red one in here.”

Dan said, “Where is that red ball? I can’t find it.”

“Happy can!” said Bill.

Here comes Happy with the red ball.

“Hello, Happy,” said Dan.

“You are a good dog. Thank you for the red ball.”

Bill said, “Look, Dan, Happy wants something in there.

What can that dog want?”

Dan said, “I will find out.”

“My little blue ball is in there.

Maybe Happy wants that.”

Bill said, “Look, it is a cat. There is the cat, Rags.”

Dan said, “Good for you, Happy.

Bill and I did not see Rags in there.

Rags wanted out.”

Bill said, “You are a good dog, Happy!”

Good Job!

Is It Easy for Rags

Jill said, "Look there, Jan.

Look at Rags hop, hop, hop.

Can you do that?"

"Yes, I can," said Jan.

"That is easy to do."

Jan said, "Oh, my!

Maybe this is easy for Rags.

But it is not easy for me."

"I can do it," said Jill.

"I can do it, too," said Bill.

"I can hop and jump," said Dan.

Jill said, "Bill and I can do it. Look at us. We can do what Rags did. This is easy."

Jan said, "Oh, Jill! You, You are a funny, funny girl."

"That is not what Rags did.

That is too easy!"

Rags can go hop, hop, hop.

You go hop, jump.

You are a funny, funny girl.

Good Job!

Two Pretty Girls

“Girls! Girls!” said Mom. “Come in the house now. I have something for you two.”

Jan said, “What is it, Mom? What do you have for us?”

“Come and find out,” said Mom. “I have something pretty for you two.”

Jan said, “What pretty coats! I like the blue one. I look good in blue.” “I like the red coat,” said Jill. “I will look pretty in it.”

Jill said, “Look at me!

Do I look pretty in my red coat?”

“No, Jill,” said Jan.

“That red coat is too big for you.

You look funny in it.”

“Maybe the red coat is for you, Jan,” said Jill.

“Maybe the blue coat is for me. We will see.”

“Yes,” said Jan, “the red coat is for me.

The blue coat is for you, Jill.”

Now we do not look funny in the red and blue coats.”

Good Job!

The Little House for Dan

“You and I can have fun in this box. It is a house for us.”

“Oh, Dan,” said Jan.

“Can Jill and I play in that little house?”

Dan said, “Bill and I are in here now. You two girls can’t come in now.”

“We can help,” said Jan. “We have a box, too. We can make one big house.”

“I guess you can,” said Dan. “I guess that the box you have, and the box we have are one big house.”

“I guess that, too,” said Bill.

“Put that box and this box here.”

“We guess that one little box for Dan, and one little box for Jan is one big house.”

“I guess that the big house is big for Dan, Jan, Bill and Jill.”

“Easy now!” said Dan.

“Easy with this box.

This box is my house.”

“It will look good,” said Bill.

Good Job!

Here We Go

“Oh, Dan,” said Bill, “Jill wants to hop.”

“Jan and Jill can’t hop,” said Dan.

“Girls can’t hop fast.”

“Yes, we can hop fast,” said Jan and Jill.

“Please hop with us, Dan.”

“Come with us, Dan,” said Bill.

“Please come and hop with us.

Please come, Dan.”

“Oh, Bill,” said Dan.

“Jan and Jill and you can hop one, two, one, two, but I don’t want to hop.”

“Please, Dan,” said Bill.

“No,” said Dan, “I don’t want to hop.”

“Come on,” said Bill.

“Here we go. Hop, one, two!

Hop one, two, one, two.

Away we go.”

Dan said, “I don’t want to hop.

Bill said, “Yes, you do, too. You want to hop.”

No, I don’t want to hop,” said Dan, “Please don’t hop.”

Good Job!

Happy Finds Something

“Happy! Happy!” said Dan. “Put that red hat down. Put it down fast. That is Jan’s hat. Please put it down, Happy.”

“Here, Jill,” said Dan.

“Here is Jan’s hat.

Will you please take it to the house?

I want to play ball with Bill.”

Jill said, “Oh, Dan, I don’t want to put Jan’s hat away.

I want to play with Pam.

Will Nan put Jan’s hat away?”

“Come here, Nan,” said Dan.

“Please take Jan’s hat to the house.”

“I want to ride my horse now,” said Nan.

“I want to ride my horse fast.

“Please take Jan’s hat to Bill.

Maybe Bill will take Jan’s hat to the house.”

“No,” said Bill, “I will play ball with Dan.

You take the hat to the house.”

“No,” said Nan, “but maybe Happy will take Jan’s hat to the house.

Come on, Happy. Take Jan’s hat to the house.”

Get a Fast Horse

Nan said, "You boys have a fast wagon train, but my horse can go as fast as the wagon train."

Nan said, "See my horse run home.

My horse is fast.

The wagon train you boys have is not as fast."

"The wagon train can go home fast, Nan," said Will and Bill.

"It can go as fast as the horse.

We guess that the wagon train can go home as fast as one, two."

"You boys can't go home as fast as one, two," said Nan, "but my horse can.

I guess my horse can go home fast and it is one fast horse.

Get a horse, boys. Get a fast horse."

"Look at my horse run," said Nan.

"I have a fast horse"

"We have a fast wagon train," said Will.

"Can Nan's horse go as fast as a wagon train?"

Bill said, "Put that horse down, Nan.

Will and I will take you for a ride.

You can ride fast on a wagon train."

Good Job!

Pam Reads a Book

Dan said, "Hello, Will. Hello, Pam. Come and play ball with us."

Pam said, "Not now, Dan. I want to read this book.

It is a girl's book.

Will can play with you boys."

Dan said, "Come on Pam.

Please don't read that book now.

You can read it at home."

"I can't read this book at home," said Pam. "This is not my book.

I have to read this book here, and I have to read fast."

Pam said, "Dan, help me read this book.

A girl dog in this book runs away. But it jumps on something and rides home. I want to know what it rides on."

"Oh, Pam," said Dan, "I can't help you now. I have to play ball with Will."

Pam said, "I want to know what this girl dog rides on."

"It rides on a train," said Mac.

Pam said, "Mac, can you read?"

"No," said Mac. "I can't read but my mom can. She read that book to me."

Good Job!

Rags Takes a Ride

Bill said, "Look there, Mac."

There is Jan's cat Rags in Jill's car.

Let's do something funny with the car."

Mac said," We will have to work fast.

We don't want Jill to see us."

Jill said, "My car. My car! I want my car. Rags don't take my car.

Please don't take it away, Rags."

Jan said, "Oh, Jill. Rags can't take the car away.

A cat can't take the car. Let's find out who did take it.

Come with me, Jill."

"You boys!" said Jill.

"Rags did not take my car.

You boys did and I know how you did it.

Please take Rags and go home now.

Let's see how you do that.

And boys, girls can guess what you did.

Girls know and girls can guess fast.

You boys don't know how fast girls can guess what you boys do."

Good Job!

Guess Who?

“Will,” said Dan, “Do you want to play animal guess?”

“What is animal guess?” said Will.

“We can guess what animal you are,” said Dan.

“Can Jan and Jill play animal guess, too?” asked Will.

“Yes,” said Dan, “Jan and Jill can play animal guess, too.”

“Can you guess my animal?” said Dan.

“My animal is not big. It can go fast. It can go hop, hop, hop.”

“I know,” said Jill. “Dan, you are a bunny. You are a big, funny bunny.”

“Yes, I am a bunny, Jill. What are you?”

Jill said, “I am big. I run and Rags runs. I can go fast and Rags runs away. Rags will not come to me. What animal am I?”

Jan said, “Jill, you are a dog.

You are Happy. Rags runs away and Happy runs, too.”

“What are you, Will?” said Jan.

“I am little,” said Will. “I can run fast. Rags is fast but I am fast, fast, fast. Happy is big and fast, but I can go faster. Rags wants to eat me.”

“I know what you are,” said Dan. “You are a rat! A cat wants a rat. You are a little rat.” “It is good to guess animals,” said Dan, Jan, Will and Jill. “We can guess animals.”

Good Job!

Nan Helps Mom Play Tag

Jan said, "One, two, three for Dan.

Now he is it."

Dan said, "Here are Mom and Dad.

Maybe they will play tag with us."

Jan said, "This wagon is Home.

You have to run fast here to get Home.

Don't let Dan tag you."

Dan said," "Now you all can go.

I will come and find you."

Away ran Dad and Nan.

Away ran Mom and Jan.

Dan went to look for Dad.

But Dad and Nan ran home.

One, two, three for me!" said Dad.

"And one, two, three for Nan."

Dan went to find Jan.

But she ran to the wagon.

"One, two, three for me!" she said.

Away went Dan to find Mom.

Nan said, "Run fast, Mom!

Run Home!

I will help you.

Here I come with the Home wagon."

Dan said, "Don't do that, Nan!
I know that you want to help Mom.
But that is not how we play tag."

Good Job!

Where Did It Go?

Jill said, "What a funny red cat!
Can we play with it?"
Jan said, "Yes, we can play with it.
But I don't want Happy to see it.
Happy likes to play with my animals.
He will take my red cat and run away with it."
"I like this little dog," said Jill.
"Can we play with it?"
Jan said, "Oh, yes, play with it.
I have a little horse, too.
I will get it out.
Then we can play with all three animals."
The girls did not see Dan.
They did not see what he did.
Dan got the red cat and ran away.
"Where is my red cat?" said Jan.
"I put it down there."
"I know it was there," said Jill.
"Did Happy come in and get it?"
"Maybe he was in here!" said Jan.
"Let's go out and look for Happy."
Then out went Jan and Jill.
Out they ran to find Happy and the red cat.

“Look up there!” said Jan.

“There is my red cat.”

“How did it get up there?” said Jill.

“How did it get up in the tree?”

“Who knows?” said Jill.

“I don’t know. But, I know Happy did not put that red cat up there.”

Good Job!

The Birthday

“Hello,” said Mac.

“Come in, come in.”

Bill said, “Here Mac. Jill and I have something for you.”

“Oh, thank you!” said Mac.

“Come on in the house.”

Jill said, “Happy birthday, Mac. This is for you.”

Then Dan said, “Hello, Mac.

Jan and I have something for you, too.

Happy birthday.”

Mac was a happy boy.

He said, “I like this little car.

I like the three animal books, too.

I read all the animal books I can get.

Thank you! Thank you!”

Mac’s mom said, “It is time to eat.

Will you all come in here now?”

“Oh, yes,” said the boys and girls.

Then they all went in to eat.

They all said, “Happy birthday to you.

Happy birthday to you. Happy birthday, dear Mac.

Happy birthday to you.”

Good Job!

A Pony Ride

Pam said, "Oh, no! Oh, dear!

See what Dad's car did to my horse."

"Dad did not see it," said Dan.

"He did not know that it was there."

"Oh, Pam," said Dad, "I did not see the horse."

"I want to ride my horse," said Pam.

Dad said, "Pam, let me take you to the park to ride a pony."

Pam was not happy.

"I want to ride my horse," she said.

"I don't want to ride a pony."

"Come on, Pam," said Dad.

"Get Mom and Jan.

They will want to see you ride a pony.

We can all have a good time."

At the park Dad said, "Pam, here is a pretty pony.

You can ride this white pony."

"No, no!" said Pam.

"Please don't put me on that pony."

Mom said, "Pam, please look at that white pony.

That white pony is a good one."

Pam said, "Let Jan ride the white pony.

I want to ride a black pony."

Dad said, "Where is a black pony?"

“There, there,” said Pam.

“There is a little black pony. I want to ride on it.”

“Good,” said Dad. “You can ride the black pony.

Jan and Dan will ride the white pony.

We will all have a good time.”

Good Job!

Look Out, Bill

Jan said, "I want to ride on that.

Do you want to go with me, Dan?"

"Yes," said Dan.

That looks like fun, but boy is it big.

"Let's have a ride on it, Jan."

Up, up they went.

Dan said, "Now, we can see all the park.

Look down there, Jan.

Do you see Jill?"

"Yes, I can see Jill," said Jan.

"I can see Bill, too."

"Hello, Bill. Hello, down there."

"Bill wants ice cream," said Dan.

"Mom will get ice cream for Bill."

Jan said, "Look out! Look out Dan.

The ice cream you have will fall.

Oh, it did fall."

"Look out, Bill." said Dan.

"Look out for my ice cream."

Jan said, "Oh no." "Oh, dear, oh dear. Dan, the ice cream is down on Bill." "Oh, dear," said Dan. "That is not the ice cream Bill wants."

Good Job!

Get a Duck

Jill said, "I like that duck.

Where did you get it, Mac?"

"I got it here in the park," said Mac.

"I hit the duck with a ball.

You can get one, too, but you will have to work for it."

Dad said, "Come on Jill.

I will get a duck for you.

I will hit the duck for you."

"I want the white duck," said Jill.

"Try to get that duck for me, Dad."

"I can try three times," said Dad.

"Maybe I can get the white duck.

One! Two! Three!"

"No white duck," said Jill.

"No duck at all."

"Dan, you try now," said Dad.

"Let's see what you can do."

"One!" said Dan.

"Two!" said Dan.

"No ducks," said Jill.

"Three," said Dan.

"No duck!" said Jill.

"No duck for me."

Jill was not happy.

She looked sad.

“Let’s let little Pam try,” said Dan.

“Maybe she can get the white duck.”

Dad said, “Maybe Pam can get the duck.

Go and try, Pam.”

“One!” said Pam.

“Oh, I got it! I got it. I got the white duck.”

“Yes, you did get that white duck, Pam,” said Dad.

“And you got it with one try.”

A Pet for Nan

“Mom,” said Nan, “can I have a dog?”

Mom said, “Nan, what dog do you want?”

“I want a big red dog.”

“Let’s ask Dad,” said Mom.

“Dad,” said Nan, “can I have a dog?”

“Where will you put a dog?” said Dad.

“I will put a dog in my house,” said Nan.

“It is not easy to put a big dog in the house,” said Dad.

“Let’s look at a pet cat,” said Mom.

“A pet cat is little. We can put a pet cat in the house.”

“I don’t want a cat,” said Nan.

“Nan,” said Dad, “We can’t put a big dog in the house.

And you don’t want a cat.

What do you want now?”

Nan looked and looked.

Then Nan saw a little pet.

The little pet looked at Nan.

It looked at her and did a little hop to her.

“I want that for a pet,” said Nan.

“Can I have that little white rabbit?”

“You want a rabbit?” said Mom and Dad.

“Yes,” said Nan, “a rabbit is a good pet.”

Good Job!

Let's Find Pam

"Will and Jill, did you two see Pam?" said Dad.

"We saw her at the ducks," said Jill.

"She went back to see the ducks."

"Will," said Dad, "will you go back and get Pam?"

"Yes, Dad," said Will.

Will looked and looked, but he did not find her.

"Oh, no!" said Mom

Let's all go to look for Pam."

"I will look for Pam, too," said little Mac.

"No, Mac," said Mom. "You come with me."

"Here comes Will and Jill," said Dad.

"But, Pam is not with them."

"I will go back to find Pam," said Mom.

"Don't you go, too," she said.

"Pam did not run away," said Dad.

"She is in the animal park."

Dad said, "Pam, PAM, PAM, come here."

Mom said, "Pam, we want you to come now.

Don't run away to see animals."

"She is here!" said Mom and little Mac.

"She is at the funny animals.

Come on Pam, Let's go home."

Good Job!

A Game for Bill

“Hello, Dan,” said Bill.

“Jill and I came to get a new book.

Do you want a book, too?”

“No,” said Dan. “Mac wants something new to play with.

I came to help him get it.”

Jill said, “Look here, Mac.

Here is a pretty little rabbit. This is a good toy.

Do you want it?”

Mac looked at the rabbit.

Then he said, “No, thank you.

I don’t want a toy rabbit.

I don’t like toy animals.”

Dan said, “Come here, Mac.

Look at this toy farm.

Do you want me to get it for you?”

Mac came and looked at the toy farm. Then he said, “No, thank you.

I don't want a toy farm.

I want something that can go.

Help me find a new toy that will go.”

Bill looked at the games.

He said, “Come here, Dan.

Here is a new game.

Maybe Mac will like this.”

Dan said, “We have that game at home.

I got it for my birthday.

Mac is too little to play with it.

He wants a toy that will go.

Let's find one for him.”

“Oh, Mac,” said Jill.

“You don't want a toy rabbit.

You don't want a toy farm.

You don't want a new game.

You are not easy to please.”

“Look there,” said Mac.

“I see what I want.

I want that red car.

It can go and go and go and go.”

Good Job!

The Pin Game

“I like this new game,” said Nan.

“It is easy to make the pins go down. I got all but three.”

Will said, “Let Jan try now. Then Bill can try.

We have to play one at a time.”

Jan had a try, but not one pin went down.

“Oh, dear!” she said.

“This new game is not easy for me.”

Then Bill had a try.

“Look,” he said. “I got all but one pin.”

Then Dan had a try. He got all but two pins.

“Hello, Mac,” called Dan.

“Come and try to play this new game.”

Mac said, “Not me. I can’t play that game. I will play with my wagon.”

“Come on, Mac,” called Bill.

“This new game is fun.

Try to make all the pins go down.

Then you can play with the wagon.”

Mac came and had a try.

“See what I did?” he said.

All the pins went down.

Bill, you take my yellow ball.

Then you can make all the pins go down.”

Bill said, “No, thanks, Mac.

We can’t play with the big yellow ball.

We have to play with the little ball.

It came with the game.”

Good Job!

Dan's Birthday

Jan said, "Hello, Gramps!

Come in, Gramps, come in.

Did you come to get Dan?"

"Yes, Jan," said Gramps.

"I came to get him and Bill.

I want to take the boys home with me."

"Oh, boy," said Gramps.

"That yellow cake looks good."

Mom said, "That cake is for Dan's birthday. I want you to take it home with you."

"Good," said Gramps. "Do Jan and Jill want to come to the farm, too?"

"Yes, we do," said Jan and Jill.

"Where did Dan go?" said Gramps.

"He went to get Bill," said Jan.

"Here he is now," said Jill.

Gramps said, "Hello, Bill. Happy birthday, Dan.

Let's all get in the car now. It's time to go to the farm."

"Here comes Happy," said Dan.

"Can Happy come, too?"

"I guess Happy can come, too," said Gramps.

"Jump in the car."

"Have a good time at the farm," said Mom.

"We will, Mom," said Dan.

"We will, too," said Jan and Jill.

"Happy and I will have a good time, too," said Bill.

"Let's go to the farm, Gramps," said Dan.

"We want to have fun at the farm."

"Away we go," said Gramps.

Good Job!

Where's the Cake?

Dan said, "Don't go in the house Gramps. Come with Bill and me.

Bill wants to see the farm."

Grams said, "Not now, Dan. Let's eat now. Then our friend can see the farm."

Dan said, "Oh, Grams, I have had all I can eat."

Gramps said, "No, Dan, you have a birthday cake to eat. Your mom wanted you to eat it here at the farm. We put the cake in the car at your house."

Then Gramps went out to the car to get the big yellow cake.

Gramps came back to the house, but he did not have the cake.

"Oh, boy," he said.

"I can not find your cake, Dan. I guess it is back at your house.

We can't go back after it now. What will we do?"

Grams jumped up. "I know what to do," she said. "Come and help me, Jan. We have work to do."

Grams and Jan went to the back of the house.

"Jan," said Grams. "Do you see that melon there?"

“Yes,” said Jan. “I see a little melon and a big melon.”

“Let’s get that big melon,” said Grams. “Then I will make a funny birthday cake.”

Jan got the big melon.

Then Jan and Grams went back to the house.

Grams cut the melon in two. Then Jan put candles in the melon.

“Dan,” said Grams, “Come and see your funny birthday cake.”

Dan said, “Oh, boy, that is a funny, funny cake. Thanks, Grams.”

“Happy birthday,” said Grams and Jan.

“Happy birthday,” said Gramps and Bill.

“Now let’s eat that funny birthday cake.”

Good Job!

Black Pony

Jan saw the boys on the black pony.

“Let me ride, too,” she called.

Gramps said, “Not now, Jan. Three can’t get on Black Pony. Let the boys ride now. You can ride after Dan and Bill come back.”

Away went the two boys on Black Pony.

Dan said, “I like this pony. This is a good, fast ride.”

“Dan, look there!” said Bill. “There went two rabbits. Let’s get down and try to get the rabbits.”

Dan and Bill got down. They looked and looked for the rabbits.

Soon they saw the rabbits jump out and run away. Black Pony saw them, too.

Black Pony ran away, and Bill and Dan ran after him.

“Come back, Black Pony,” called Dan. “Come back here!”

But Black Pony ran on and on.

“Oh, man,” said Bill. “What will we do now?”

“I guess that we will walk,” said Dan. “Come on my friend. Let’s walk. We have to walk, walk, walk.”

When Bill and Dan got home, they saw Jan on Black Pony.

“Look here boys,” said Jan. “Black Pony came back to get me.

He wanted me to have a ride. Black Pony is my friend.”

Dan said, “Maybe Black Pony is your friend, Jan. But he is not a friend of Bill and me.

He ran away, and Bill and I had to walk home.”

Good Job!

Where is Pam?

“Pam! Pam!” said Grams. “Come here, Pam”

Jill said, “Pam went for a walk with Mac. I guess that they went to see the chickens. They wanted to see them eat.”

Dan ran to the chicken house to get Mac and Pam.

He saw big hens in there, but he did not see Mac and Pam.

“Grams!” he called. “Mac and Pam are not here. I can’t find them.”

“Oh, dear,” said Grams. “Where did they go? We have to find them.”

“Look there,” said Grams. “Here comes Happy. That dog will know where Mac and Pam are. Come on, Happy, find Mac and Pam. Go and find them for us.”

Happy looked up at Grams.

Then he barked and barked. Away he ran.

“Come on boys,” said Grams. “Happy will find them. Happy will find Mac and Pam.”

Soon Happy saw Mac and Pam. He barked and barked.

“Happy sees them,” said Gramps. “There they are. Mac, Pam, where did you go? How did you get here?”

Pam said, “Mac and I went for a walk. We walked and walked. We went to the chicken house. We saw white hens. Then we saw a pretty rabbit. It was white and it went fast. We ran after it but it got away.”

Gramps said, “We are happy that you and Mac are here now. We looked and looked for you. But it was Happy that helped us find you. Good boy, Happy, good boy.”

Good Job!

Happy and Black Pony

Happy saw Black Pony and wanted to make him run.

So he barked and barked at him.

Black Pony ran fast and Happy ran after him.

This was fun for Happy, but Black Pony did not like it.

Black Pony ran away.

Soon Happy saw a mother pig and her three little pigs.

He wanted to make them run.

So he barked and barked at them.

This was fun for Happy, but the three little pigs did not like it.

They ran to the mother pig.

The mother pig ran after Happy, and Happy ran away.

Then Happy saw two big cows. He wanted to make the cows run.

So Happy barked and barked at them. Away ran the cows and Happy ran after them.

That was fun for Happy, but it was not fun for the two cows.

Soon Happy saw a white hen and her little baby chicks.

He wanted to make the hen and chicks run. So he barked and barked at them.

The little chicks ran away, but the white hen did not run away.

The white hen ran at Happy. She looked mad. She bit Happy and ran after him.

Happy ran away fast. That was not fun for Happy.

Good Job!

Pam Helps Put Out a Fire

Grams said, "Get off the car, little Pam. You can't play on it."

Pam said, "Look, Grams! The house is on fire."

"Oh, no!" said Grams. "I will have to put the fire out. Pam, run and get Gramps. Run fast, Pam. Run, run, run."

Pam ran back to the pig's house, but Gramps was not there.

Then she ran to the chicken house, but Gramps was not there.

"Fire, fire, fire!" she called, "Gramps come and help put out the fire!"

Gramps came running.

"Where is the fire?" said Gramps.

"It is at the house, Gramps," Pam said.

"Come and help Grams put out the fire!"

Gramps saw the big fire.

"Pam!" he called. "Get help, Get Dan and Bill. Get help fast."

Soon Dan and Bill came. So did Jan and Jill. They all helped put out the fire.

"Thank you, boys," said Gramps.

“Thank you, girls,” said Grams. “Thanks for helping put the fire out.”

“What about me?” said Pam. “What about me? I helped.”

Jan laughed, “Oh, Pam, what did you do to put out the fire?”

“I went to get Gramps,” said Pam.

Then they all laughed and laughed.

“Yes,” said Gramps. “You were a big help, Pam.”

Fun at the Farm

“Look, Dan,” said Bill.

“Your mom and dad are here.
They have come after us.
It’s time to go home.”

“Hello, boys and girls,” said Dad.
“Did you children have a good day?
Did you have fun?”

Mom said, “What did you do all day?
What did you do to have fun?”

“We looked at all the farm animals,” said Bill.
“We saw big, black cows.
We saw little, white pigs, and we saw a lot of chickens.”

Dan said,
“Bill and I had a ride on the black pony.
That was lots of fun.
Jan and Jill had a ride, too.”

“That was not all,” said Jan.
“One time little Mac saw two rabbits.
He ran after them.
We called and called for Mac, but we did not find him.”

“Yes,” said Jill.
“We looked and looked for little Mac.
Then Happy barked and barked.
Happy did find little Mac.
Little Mac had a rabbit.
He wanted to find the rabbit’s home.”

Dan said, “Mac wanted to see the big rabbit.
He wanted to pet it.
When the big rabbit saw Happy, it ran away.”
“My, my,” said Dad. “You had a big day.
Did you get to see Grams at all?”

“Yes,” said Jan.

“When we saw little Mac with the rabbits, we called to Grams.”

She said,

“Good, I’m happy you have little Mac with you.
Come in the house and eat cake.”

Dad laughed and laughed,

“That got you all in the house, I bet.
What a day you all had.”

Time to Go

Ben said, "Mom, where is Pat?
It's time to go to school, and I can't find her."

"You and Will go on to school," said Mom.
"I'll find out where Pat is.
She and Nan will come soon."

Mom called, "Pat, Pat, where are you?
It's time for school Nan is here.
She wants to go to school with you."

Pat called, "I'm here, Mom.
I can't find my red shoes.
My black shoes are here but I can't find my red ones.
Will you help me look for them?"

Mom looked and looked, but she did not find the red shoes.
She said,
"I don't know where they are, Pat, but you must go to school now if you want to be on time."

Pat put on her black shoes.
Then she said, "It's raining.
I'll need to get my boots.
I can't go out in the rain with my black shoes, and I must get my rain hat, rain coat, and boots."

Pat ran to get her hat, coat, and boots.

She called to Nan, "Nan, go on to school.
I'll come when I get my rain hat, rain coat and boots."

When Pat saw her rain hat and coat she put them on.
Then she tried to put on her rain boots, but her boots did not go on.

Pat looked in her boots.
Then she said, "Oh, my, here they are.
My red school shoes are in my boots."

“Let’s go, Pat,” said Mom,
“You will not get to school on time.”

“Mom,” said Pat,
“I will not get to school on time, but I will get to school with my red shoes.”

Look Out

Dan said, "I saw two girls.
They ran to school in the rain.
They got wet, too. Can you guess who they are?"

Bill said, "I know who they are. I saw them, too.
One girl was Pam in her blue dress.
One was Jan in her red dress. Boy, were they wet."

Ben said, "I saw a girl in black boots and a yellow raincoat.
She was helping boys and girls to get to school."

"I know who that big girl is," said Pam.
"She is Nan's mother.
She helps boys and girls go to school on time.
She helped me."

Dan said,
"Pat, who did you see on your way to school?"

Pat said, "I did not see girls who got wet.
I did not see boys run to school in the rain.
What I did see were dogs and a cat."

"Where did you see dogs and a cat?" said Dan.

"They were at Nan's house," said Pat.
"A big black dog and a little white dog ran after a little yellow cat."

"Where did they run to?" said Dan.
"They ran to a big tree." said Pat.
"The dogs ran fast, and they barked at the cat."

"Then what?" said Dan.

"Then," said Pat, "the little yellow cat ran up a tree.
The dogs barked and barked at her."

Dan said, "Did the cat get down?"

"No," said Pat.

“The cat did not get down from the tree.
The dogs barked and barked at her.
Then they got wet in the rain and they went home.
I guess the cat got down then.”

“That is good,” said Dan.

Get a Book

Miss Day said, "Boys and Girls!
I have put new books out here. Come and look at them.
They are for you to read at home.
Come and find a book you like."

All the boys and girls went to look at the new books.
Soon Will saw a book that he wanted to take home with him.

He said, "Miss Day, I like this red book.
It's full of funny toys and it shows how to make them.
I want to find out how to make toys."

Dan said, "Look at this book, Will.
It shows how to play ball.
I guess I'll take it home. You can look at the book, too."

"This book is about dogs," said Bill. I like dogs.
I like big dogs and little dogs. This book shows all big and little dogs.
So I'll take this dog book."

Ben said, "This is a good book.
It is about a little train. This train had to work all the time.
It had to go up a big, big hill.
It was not easy to go up the hill, but the little train worked and worked."

It said, "I think I can, I think I can."

It worked and worked.
Then it got to the top of the hill.
"I did it, I did it," said the little train.
I got to the top of the hill."

"I will take this train book, Miss Day," said Ben.

All the boys and girls got the books they liked.

Will's New Book

"Boy," said Dan, "I am going to like my new book.
I like to read about ball games."

"I like my new book, too," said Bill.

"I want to know about dogs. I like big dogs and little dogs.
But, I want to know about little black dogs."

"Thank you, Miss Day," said the boys and girls,
"Thank you for the new books."

"Boys and girls," said Miss Day.
"It is time to go home now.
You have fun with the new books.
Good-by, have fun, read, read, read."

"Good-by, Miss Day," said the boys and girls.
Then they all went out.
Miss Day was about to go home when Bill, Dan, and Ben came back.

"Miss Day," they said,
"We can't find Will. Will did not come with us.
We don't know which way Will went.
We don't know if Will went home."

Miss Day said,
"When you boys and girls said good-by, was Will with you?"

"We don't know," said the boys.
"Maybe Will did not go home. Maybe he is in here."

Miss Day said, "I know where to look for Will."
Soon Miss Day said, "Boys, come here.
I see where Will is." The boys ran to Miss Day.

"Oh, Will," they said, "You did not go home.
Why didn't you go home with us?"

"I wanted to read my book," said Will.
"I wanted to find out how to make toys. This is a good book.
I want to know how to make a new toy."

“Will,” said Miss Day,
“I know that you want to make a new toy,
but you can read about toys at home.
Now you go home with your friends.
You can make a new toy when you get home.”

“I will,” said Will, “I will go home now.
Good-by Miss Day.”

Which Hand?

The boys and girls were marching down the street.

When Ben said, "Right," little Mac went left.

Ben called to Pat,

Pat said,
"Little Mac, try to go right when Ben says right,

But, little Mac went right when Ben said left, and he went left when Ben said right.

"What can I do?" said Pat. "How can I get Mac to go right when Ben says right and left when Ben says left?"

Then Pat said, "Mac, which hand do you eat with?"

Mac said, "This hand."

"That is your right hand," said Pat.
"When Ben says march to the right, you go to the right hand.
When Ben says march to the left, you march to the hand that you do not eat with."

"What?" said Mac, "I don't get it."

"Oh, Mac," said Pat. "What can I do to help you?"

Then Pat said, "Put this ball in the left hand.
Now when Ben says 'march left,' you go to the hand with the ball in it.
When Ben says, 'march right,' you go to the hand that you eat with."

Mac said, "I will go to the right hand I eat with when Ben says, 'march right'.
I will go to the hand with the ball in it when Ben says 'march left'."

"That's right," said Pat.

When Pat said, "That's right," Mac went marching to the right.

"March right," said Mac, "March right, let's eat."

A Walk with Happy

Dan and Pat were walking home from school when they saw Happy.

“That dog!” said Pat,
“Happy came to walk home with us.”

“Yes,” said Dan.
“Happy wants to walk home with us.
How can Happy tell that school is out?”

“I don’t know,” said Pat, “But Happy can tell.
He always walks home with us.”

“We walk with two legs,” said Dan.
“Happy walks with four legs. Can Happy walk like us?
Can he walk on two legs?”

“Let’s try,” said Pat.
“Let’s try to get Happy to walk on two legs.”

Pat and Dan had Happy try to walk on two legs.
Happy did not like that, but he walked. Then Happy barked and barked.

“What does Happy want now?” said Dan.
“Why is Happy barking?”

“I know,” said Pat. “I can tell.
We had Happy walking on two legs.
Now he wants us to walk on our hands.”

“How can you tell that?” said Dan.
“How can you tell that Happy wants us to walk on our hands?”

“I can tell,” said Pat.
“I can tell that Happy wants us to walk on our hands when he barks and barks.”

“Well,” said Dan.
“If Happy wants us to walk on our hands, let’s try.”

Soon Dan and Pat were walking on two hands not on two legs.

“This is not easy,” said Dan.

“No, it is not easy,” said Pat.

“It was not easy for Happy to walk on two legs, and it is not easy for us to walk on our hands.”

When Pat said that it was not easy to walk that way,
Happy barked and barked.

“Yes, Happy,” said the boys.

“It is not easy for you to walk on two legs,
and it is not easy for us to walk on our hands.”

“Let’s walk home like we always walk home with Happy,” said Dan.
“That is the easy way.”

Nan Reads to Little Mac

“Nan, dear!” called Mom.

“Mac will not go to sleep. I have work to do.

Will you get his book and read to him?

Maybe you can get him to go to sleep.

Then you can go back and play with Jill.”

“All right, Mom,” said Nan.

“I will get a toy for him, too. He likes to sleep with his toy dog.”

Nan said, “There little Mac.

Take your little toy dog.

Mom has work now, and you have to go to sleep.”

Mac put out his hand for the toy dog.

Then he saw his rabbit book.

“Read rabbit story, Nan,” said Mac.

“I want rabbit story. Read! Read rabbit story.”

Nan said, “All right, Mac, all right.

I will read the rabbit story. Will you try to go to sleep then?”

Mac jumped up and down. “Read story, Nan,” he said.

Nan sat down.

Then she read the rabbit story.

She read fast, but little Mac did not go to sleep.

He began to jump up and down.

He said, “Rabbit, rabbit, rabbit story.

Read rabbit story again.”

“Oh, dear,” said Nan.

“I will read the rabbit story again, but then you must go to sleep.”

Mac jumped up and down. “Hop, hop, hop, hop, hop,” he said.

“Rabbit go hop, hop, hop, hop.”

Nan was not happy.

She said, “No, Mac. Do not jump up and down like that.”

Get your toy dog and go to sleep.”

Nan began to read the rabbit story again.

She did not read fast.

She read slow, slow, slow.

Soon she was not reading at all.

Little Mac looked at Nan.

Then he said, “Nan go to sleep. Mac plays with toy dog.

Mac hop, hop, hop like rabbit. Mac likes rabbit story.

Nan likes to go to sleep.”

Bill's Friend Helps Him

Dan called, "Hello, Bill!
What do you have there?"

Bill said, "I have some wood.
I am going to make a chair for the new baby at Pat's house."

"Did Pat's mom have a baby?" said Dan.

"Yes," said Bill. "She had a little baby girl.
The little girl is called Jen."

"I will help you make a chair," said Dan.

"You can help me," said Bill.
"But we will need to get Will to help, too."

"How do we make a chair for a baby?" said Dan.

"We will make big legs on the chair.
Then little Jen will sit by her mom.
Her mom can feed her when she sits in the new, big chair."

Dan and Will began to help Bill make the chair for little Jen.
Dan put on two legs and Will put on two legs.

Then Bill said, "Dan, you put on two tall legs.
Will, the legs you put on the chair are not tall.
Baby Jen cannot sit in a chair with two tall legs and two legs that are not tall."

"Oh, oh," said Will.
"I put on two legs that are not as tall as the two legs that Dan put on the chair.
I will have to fix that."

Will took off the two legs that were not as tall as the two legs that Dan put on.
He put on two tall legs.

"Now we have a chair for little Jen," said Bill.
"Let's take the chair to Pat's mom."

Will, Bill, and Dan went to Pat's house.
They said, "Here is a chair for baby Jen."

Pat's mom said, "Oh, thank you, thank you, boys.
Baby Jen can sit in this chair when I feed her.
She will like the chair, and I like the chair. Thank you, thank you, boys."

Joe's Haircut

Ben said, "Jon is going to get his hair cut.
Let me go with him, Mom. Please let me go."

"All right," said Ben's mom.
"Get your hair cut, too, Ben."

Ben got his coat and cap.
Then off he ran with Jon.

Jon said, "This is the man who cuts my hair, Ben.
Do you want him to cut your hair?"

"Yes, I do," said Ben. "But I want to see him cut your hair first.
I will be last."

Soon Jon got up in the big chair, and the man cut his hair.

Then Jon got down, and Ben got up in the man's chair.

Ben said to the man, "I want my hair to look like Jon's hair.
Can you do that?"

"Yes, I can," said the man. Then he began to cut Ben's hair.
At last he said, "How do you like your haircut?"

Ben said, "I don't look like Jon, but I like my haircut."

Ben ran home to show his haircut to his mom.

"Look at my haircut," he said.
"I got my hair cut like Jon's haircut."

Ben's mom said, "Yes, I see I like your haircut.
Your dad will like it, too.
He will be home soon, and you can show him your haircut."

Ben, said, "I will go up the street and look for dad."

Soon Ben found his dad.

“Dad, Dad,” he said, “Look at my new hair cut.
It is just like Jon’s haircut.”

Ben’s dad looked at Ben’s haircut. The he began to laugh.

“What is so funny?” said Ben.

His dad took off his cap.

“Look at my haircut, Ben,” said Dad.

“Your haircut is just like my new haircut.

You wanted to look like Jon, but you look just like me.”

“That’s good, Dad,” said Ben. “I like to look just like you.”

The Lost Kitten

“Mom, Mom,” said Jan.
“See the kitten I found!
I wanted a friend to play with,
but I can play with this Kitten.”

Jan’s mom looked at the kitten.
At last she said, “No, Jan, that kitten has a home.
You will have to find out where it lives.”

Jan was not happy.
But she walked down the street to try to find the kitten’s home.

“Where, oh, where do you live?” she said.
Soon Jan saw a man working.
“Hello,” said Jan to the man.
“I found this little yellow kitten.
I am trying to find out where it lives.
Can you help me?”

“I don’t know where that kitten lives,” said the man.

The man said, “Maybe that girl in the house by the school knows where that kitten lives.”

Jan went to the house by the school.
She said, “My name is Jan.
I found this kitten, but I don’t know where it lives. Do you know?”

The girl said, “My name is Beth.”
I don’t know where that kitten lives, but I will help you find the kitten’s home.

So Jan and Beth, went on looking for the kitten’s home. Soon they saw a girl. The girl was calling, “Kit, Kit, where are you? Please come home.”

Jan and Beth went up to the girl.
“Hi,” they said. “Were you looking for this kitten?”

“Oh, yes,” said the girl.

“That is my baby kitten I call Kit.

Thank you. Thank you.”

“What is your name?” said Jan and Beth to the girl.

“My name is Penny,” said the girl.

“I am new here. Thank you for finding Kit. Do you girls want to play with Kit and me?”

“Yes,” said Jan and Beth. “We want to play with you and Kit.”

“I wanted friends. Now, I have two new friends and I have Kit back, too,” said Penny.

Is it Spring?

Ben had his hand up.

“Yes?” said Mrs. Jenkins.

“Mrs. Jenkins,” said Ben. “I got a new ball.
After school my friends and I are going to have a ball game.”

“Wow!” said Mrs. Jenkins, “Ball games tell me that it is spring.
What tells you children that spring is here?”

Will, said, “Oh, I know! Do you see that big tree out there?
That tree looks green.
Green trees show that spring is here.”

Jim said, “My mother lets me go out to play ball with no coat on.
Ball games and no coats show me that spring is here.”

Pat said, “I saw a mother bird make her home in a tree.
The birds tell me it is spring.
Green trees tell me, too.”

“I know something about spring,” said Bill.
“It is spring when the grass gets tall.
Then dad has to cut the grass.”

“Yes,” said Mrs. Jenkins, “Tall grass, green trees, baby birds in the nest, ball games, and no coats all tell me that spring is here.”

“And we cannot forget rain,” said Ben.
“When it rains the grass gets tall, and the trees do, too.”

“But,” said Jim,
“When it rains in the spring we cannot play ball.
It is raining now.
I guess that Ben and I will not get to play ball after school.”

“No,” said Mrs. Jenkins, “but you can play ball when the rain stops.
“That’s good,” said Ben.

Spring Pictures

Mrs. Jenkins said, "Let's make pictures of what we see in spring. You get out your colors and make pictures of birds in trees, birds in nests, and green grass."

"Mrs. Jenkins," said Jim, "can I make a picture of a ball game."

"Yes," said Mrs. Jenkins "maybe you will want to make a picture of a ball game with Ben. Ben has a new ball and likes ball games."

"Yes," said Jim, "I will make a picture of a ball game with Ben."

Ben liked what Jim said. He wanted to make a picture of a ball game.

"What colors will we put in the picture?" said Jim.

Ben said, "We will make it with green grass. I will color my boys red, and you will color your boys white."

"Yes," said Jim, "Ben's boys will be the Red Sox and my boys will be the White Sox. Then we will play a game."

Pat said, "Pam and I will make a picture, too. We will make a picture of birds in the trees."

"And, we will make nests in the trees," said Pam. "There will be baby birds in the nests."

"I will color the tree green," said Pat, "and I will make big nests in the tree."

"I will color the little birds in the nests," said Pam. "I will make the little birds yellow. The mother bird will be yellow, too."

"My bird nest in the green tree will be big, too," said Pat, "and the little birds in the nest will be the color red. The mother bird will be red, too."

Mrs. Jenkins said, "I like what you are doing, children. We will have a picture of a ball game. Ben's boys will have red on them. Jim's boys will be white. They are the Red Sox and the White Sox. Then Pat and Pam will make a picture of birds in the trees. Pam's birds will be yellow, and Pat's birds will be red. You will have pretty pictures. Go to work children."

Washing Our Car

“I want to wash our car, now,” said Mom.

“We want our car to look pretty when we go to get Gramps and Grams from the train.”

“Can we help wash our car?” said Jim and Bill.

“You can help,” said Mom. “Jim, you wash and then Bill can wash it.”

“Our car looks brown,” said Jim, “but our car is not brown.”

“No,” said Bill, “Our car is not brown. It is blue.”

“Why does our car look brown?” said Jim.

Bill said, “It looks brown now.
We did not wash it for three days.”

As Bill and Jim began to wash the car, rain fell.

“Oh, no,” said Jim,
“Now the car will not be pretty.”

Mom said, “Boys, it is time to go to get Gramps and Grams.”

“But our car is not washed,” said Bill,
“We can’t go with a car that is not pretty.”

“Yes,” said Jim,
“We want our car to be pretty when Gramps and Grams see it.”

“We do not want them to see a brown car,” said Bill,
“We want them to see a blue car.”

“It will be pretty when they see it,” said Mom.
We can get a fast car wash on our way to the train.”

“Look there!” said Jim. “See that car. It is washed in the fast car wash.”

“Soon our car will be washed,” said Mom.

“What an easy way to wash a car,” said Bill.

“And, look at our car,” said Jim.
“It is not brown, it is blue.”

Soon Jim, Bill, and Mom were at the train.

“Hello, Gramps and Grams,” they said.

“Hello, Jim, Bill, and Mom,” said Gramps and Grams.

“My your car is a pretty blue color,” they said.

“Yes,” said Mom, “an easy fast car wash did that.”

Who Has a Birthday?

Jim said, "What a big yellow cake!
Mom makes cakes like that. We have cakes for our birthdays.
Is that a birthday cake, Grams?"

"Yes, Jim," said Grams.

Jill said, "Is it for my birthday?"

Grams said, "No, Jill dear.
You have had your birthday this year."

Jim said, "Look Jill. See what I have?
Grams will let me put candles on the cake.
Then we can tell who the cake is for."

Jim looked up at his Grams.
"I will hand the candles to you," he said.
Let me know when you want them.

"Thank you," said Grams. "Hand me just one candle.
Jim asked, "Who is just one year old?
You and Gramps and Mom and Dad are all more than one year old.
Jill and I are more than one year old. Pam is more than one year old.
I can't guess who this cake is for."

Grams and Mom laughed.

Mom said, "You will soon find out."

Grams and Mom said, "Gramps, here is your birthday cake."

Jim said, "That cake can't be for you, Gramps.
You are more than one year old."

Gramps, said, "Yes, I am more than one year old.
But, one cake is too little to show all my birthday candles."

Jim said, "Oh, I see. When I am a Gramps I will have cakes and cakes and cakes so that I can have all my candles. I like cakes and candles."

Everyone laughed at the idea of lots of cakes and candles!

Make a Fire and Eat Out

“Let’s not walk so fast,” said Dan.
“Let’s take time to look at things.”

“All right,” said Dad.
Let’s take time to look for some stones.
“When we find some big stones, we will make a fire and eat.”

Soon Dan found some big stones.
“Now we can make a fire,” he said.

“Good,” said Dad. “Now help me find some sticks.
You look for little sticks, and I will look for big ones.”

In time Dan and Dad had found big and little sticks.
They put the little sticks on the stones to make a fire.
Then they put big sticks on the fire. When the fire was just right, they got out the things to eat.

“I like to eat out here,” said Dan.
“This is a good day to eat out here.”

After a time Dan and Dad could eat no more.

“Come on, Dan,” said Dad.
“Let’s put out the fire and go on with our walk.”

Dan and Dad put out the fire.
Then they went on the walk.
Soon they found some pretty stones.

“I want to take some pretty stones home,” said Dan.

“I’ll help you,” said Dad.

Dad and Dan put pretty stones in a box.

“Look out!” said Dad.

“One stone is walking.”

“That’s not a stone,” said Dan.

That’s a turtle. Let’s take it home and feed it.

“Yes,” said Dad. “Then we will take it back here.”

The Lost Turtle

Dan said, "I can't find the turtle.
It was here when I came home from school.
But now I can't find it."

Jan said, "I'll help you look for it."

"So will I," said Jill, "and Bill will look for the turtle, too."

Jan said,
"Maybe the turtle got in the room with all the toys.
Maybe it is in something."

"Maybe it is in something," said Dan,
"but it is not in this room."

"Look in the big toy box," said Bill,
"maybe it is in the box."

"No," said Dan,
"no turtle could get in that box."

"Where can that turtle be?" said Jan.

Just then Rags ran into the room.

Rags barked and barked at Dan.

"Get away from me, Rags," said Dan
"I am trying to find the turtle."

Rags ran out of the room barking.
Then he came back barking.
In and out of the room he ran.

Then Jan said,
"Let's see what Rags is barking at."

Dan, Jan, Jill, and Bill went to where Rags was barking.

“Look there,” said Jill,
“Rags found the turtle.”

“I can see why Rags wanted us to find the turtle, “ said Dan.

“Rags wanted us to get the turtle out of his pan.
He did not want the turtle to eat from his pan.”

“Oh,” said Bill,
“I see Rags did not want to help us, he wanted us to help him.”

Is That Pat's Rabbit?

Jan said, "This is fun, Pat.
I like to feed your rabbit.
He looks funny when he eats."

"I want to feed him, too." said Mac.
"Will that be all right, Pat?"

"You can feed him all he wants," said Pat.
My bunny could eat all day.
He eats like a little pig."

Soon Pat let her bunny out of the pen.
The rabbit went hop, hop, hop away from Pat, Jan, and Mac.

"Will your bunny come back?" said Jan.

"Yes," said Pat, "My bunny likes to hop in the yard.
He will come back to get food."

In time Pat's rabbit came back.
Pat put the bunny back in the pen.

Then Mac and Jan said, "Good-by" and they went home.

On the way home they saw a rabbit in Ben's yard.

"Is that Pat's bunny?" asked Jon.

"It looks like Pat's bunny," said Mac.
"Let's try to get it."

Mac and Jan ran and the bunny hopped away.
"Help us, Ben!" said Jan and Mac.

Ben came on the run with a basket.
He tried to get the bunny in the basket.
At last the fast rabbit was in the basket.
"Let's take the bunny back to Pat," said Mac.

Mac, Jan, and Ben and the bunny went back to Pat's yard.

"Here is your bunny, Pat," said Jan.

"He was in Ben's yard."

"That is not my bunny," said Pat.

"My bunny is in the pen."

"Oh, no," said Jan.

"We did not get Pat's bunny in the basket."

"That is not a pet bunny," said Jan.

"We will let it go."

"Don't let it go now," said Pat.

"Let's put it in the pen with my bunny.

Maybe it will like to be in the pen. It can play with my bunny, and it will have lots of food to eat."

And that is what Pat, Jan, Mac and Ben did.

The Stop and Go Puppy

“Jim! Jim!” called Ben.

“Please come here and help me.”

“Why do you want me to help you?” said Jim.

Ben said,

“My little puppy will not go up the steps to my room.”

“I want him to go up there so that he can sleep by my bed.”

“I’ll come and help you,” said Jim.

“But my TV show is on now.”

“Please help me now,” said Ben.

“Oh, I guess I can help you now,” said Jim.

“Then I can see TV.”

“You go up the steps,” said Jim to Ben.

“Then the puppy will go up, too.”

Ben went up the steps, but the puppy did not go up the steps.

“I know what to do now,” said Jim.

“You get some dog food.”

“Put a little dog food on each step.”

“Then your puppy will go up one step and eat.”

“Then he will go up two steps and eat.”

“That is good,” said Ben.

“My puppy will go up one step.”

Then he will stop to eat.

Up two steps, and he will stop to eat.

He will eat a little dog food on the steps one, two, and three, and up to my room.”

“Yes,” said Jim.

“Now I will go to see the TV.”

“You go to see TV,” said Ben.

“I will have fun with my puppy.”

“We will go up and down the steps.”

“I will get my puppy to my room, and my stop and go puppy will get to eat on the steps.”

“That is good for my puppy and me.”

Pat Wants to Help

“Oh, dear!” said Grams.

“The baby chickens must not be out in the rain.”

“I must put them in the chicken house.”

Jim said, “I could help you Grams.”

“I can get the baby chickens out of the rain.”

Off ran Jim and Grams to get the baby chickens out of the rain.

Soon Pat saw a mother duck and her five baby ducks in the yard.

“Oh, no!” said Pat.

“You must get your baby chickens out of the rain.”

“I will help you, Old Hen.”

“I will get your little yellow chickens out of the rain.”

“Pat, put the five little ducks in a basket.

Now the rain will not get on you,” she said.

Just then Gramps saw Pat.

“Pat, what did you do with the little ducks?”

“They are baby chickens, Gramps,” she said.

“Baby chickens must not be out on the rain. Grams said that.”

Then, Gramps began to laugh.

“Oh, Pat,” he said, “Baby chickens must not be out in the rain.”

“But, baby ducks like to be out in the rain.”

“You have five baby ducks in your basket.”

“Oh, Gramps,” said Pat.

“The five little chickens are ducks?”

“Yes,” said Gramps, “You helped ducks not chickens.”

“Now,” said Gramps.

“You are not a duck, Pat. I must get you out of the rain.”

“Gramps,” said Pat, “I like to help chickens and ducks.

You like to help me. I like you Gramps.”

Get the Pigs in the Pen

“Come here, Rags,” said Bill.
“Give me a little help.” “There is a pig under Dad’s car.”
“Help me put that pig back in Gramp’s pig pen.”

Rags barked at the pig. It ran out from under the car.
Bill and Rags ran after the black pig.
They put the pig in Gramp’s pig pen with five other pigs in it.

Soon Bill saw Jill.
“Let’s have a pony ride, “ he said.
“Gramps said that we could ride the white pony.”

Bill and Jill went to the barn to get the white pony.
But, in the barn with the pony was a black pig.

Bill said, “Black pig, how did you get in here?
I just put you in the pen with five other pigs.
Back to the pen you go again.”

Soon Bill and Jill came out of the barn on the white pony.

“That pig is out again,” said Bill.

He jumped off the pony.
He and Rags got the black pig in the pen.
Then Bill and Jill went for a ride on the white pony.
When they came back, they saw a black pig in the yard.
Jill helped Bill get the pig in the pen.
Then Jill put the white pony back in the barn.

Soon a man came into the yard.

“Hello, Bill,” said the man, “I am your gramps’ neighbor, Mr. Jon.
I am looking for some of my pigs.
Four little black pigs ran away. Did you see them?”

“No, Mr. Jon,” said Bill. “I did not see your four pigs.
But, one of Gramps’ black pigs got out four times.”

Mr. Jon said, “Let me see the pigs.”

When he got to the pen he said, "Your gramps has five black pigs. They have white on them, too. Now there are nine pigs in the pen. The four all black pigs are mine. The five black and white pigs are your gramps' pigs."

Bill said, "Oh, Mr. Jon!
I did not put Gramps' pigs in the pen four times.
I put your four pigs in the pen with Gramps' pigs one at a time."

Mr. Jon laughed, "Bill," he said.
"You are a good neighbor.
Thank you for helping me with my pigs."

Where is the Yellow Cat?

“Nan! Nan!” called Mom.

“I want to feed the cat. Do you know where she is?”

“She is under the steps,” said Nan.

“She is there with her five kittens.”

Mom looked under the steps.

Then she said, “The five Kittens are here, but our yellow cat is not here.”

Mom called, “Ben, do you know where the yellow cat is?

I want to give her some food.”

Ben said, “She is here, Mom.

Our yellow cat is up in this tree.

I have been trying to get her to come down.

A big black dog made her go up this tree.”

“Where is the dog now? asked Mom.”

“The dog ran away,” said Ben.

“Can’t you get her to come down?” asked Mom.

“No,” said Ben.

“I called and called to her, but she will not come down.”

“Oh, my,” said Mom.

“She must come down. She must feed her five baby kittens.”

Ben said, “I will go up the tree.

Maybe I can get her to come down.”

Ben went up the tree, but the cat did not come down.

Then Ben said, “I know what to do.

I will get some things from the barn.

Nan, you go and get one of her kittens.”

Soon Nan came back with a kitten.

Ben came back with a basket and a rope.

He said,

“I’m going to give the kitten a ride in this basket up to the yellow cat.”

Up, up went the basket with the kitten. Soon it was under yellow cat.

When she saw her baby kitten in the basket, she jumped in, too.

Then Ben let the basket down. Out jumped the cat with her baby kitten.

“Look at her run for the steps with her baby kitten,” said Ben.

I guess she wants to feed her five little kittens.

No dog will get yellow cat now.”

Kittens at the Farm

Mom said, "Ben, Nan, the five kittens of yellow cat are big now. We must find homes for them. Yellow cat can't get food for all of them.

"Where can we find homes for five kittens?" said Ben.

Nan said, "I know where we can take the five kittens. Gramps has a big barn. The kittens will like it on Gramp's farm."

"I like that, Nan," said Mom. "Let's take them to Gramp's farm now."

Ben, Nan and Mom put the five kittens in the car. Then, they went to Gramp's farm.

Gramps said, "Nan, Ben, Mom, what do you have here?"

"We have five kittens that want a good home," said Mom.

"Can they stay in your barn? They can get food there."

"Yes," said Gramps, "I need some kittens to help get the mice out of the barn."

"Do you have a dog?" said Ben, "The kittens will not like a dog."

"I have a dog," said Gramps, "but my dog likes cats. Look here comes my dog, now."

When Gramps dog saw the kittens, he began to lick them. "See," said Gramps, "my dog likes the kittens. The kittens can get the mice out of the barn. My dog will like that. The mice eat my dogs food."

"This is good," said Mom. "The dog likes the kittens, and the kittens help the dog."

"Yes," said Gramps. "The kittens can help me and my dog. This is a good day."

Brown Cow's New Home

One morning two men came to see Gramps.

"I am Mr. Brown," said one man.

"This is Mr. Black. We are from the children's zoo. We want to buy a big farm animal. Do you have an animal that likes boys and girls?"

"Yes, we do," laughed Gramps.

"Here comes our family pet now."

The man laughed when they saw Pam riding on the black and white cow.

Gramps said, "The children call that cow Moo Mom."

Mr. Brown said, "We want that cow!

She would be a good animal for our zoo. Will you sell Moo Mom to us?"

Gramps called to the children, "Do you want Moo Mom to go to the zoo?"

Mr. Brown and Mr. Black want to buy her."

The children thought and thought. Then Pam said, "Moo Mom likes us. She likes to live here with us. She would not be happy there."

Mr. Black said, "She would be happy at the zoo.

Many children come to the zoo. They will give Moo Mom things to eat.

"Well," said Pam and Dan, "Moo Mom likes to eat.

We think that she will like the zoo. Can we come to see here there?"

"Yes," said Mr. Black.

"We want both of you to come to visit Moo Mom at the zoo."

Gramps said, "Children, we will miss Moo Mom, but she will make many children happy at the zoo."

The next morning the two men came down the road to get Moo Mom.

Pam and Dan ran to the barnyard to tell Moo Mom good-bye. Mr. Black said,

"Your pet will be happy at the zoo. Come to visit her soon."

Then off went Mr. Black and Mr. Brown with Moo Mom.

After a busy week, Gramps said, "Children, let's go to town."

If we hurry we can go to the zoo and see Moo Mom.”

Pam and Dan did hurry.

When they got to the zoo, many children were looking at Moo Mom. But, when Moo Mom saw Pam and Dan, she walked away from the children and came to Pam and Dan.

“Oh, Moo Mom,” said Dan, “You have many new friends here. But, you still like your old friends. And, we still like you, too.”

Lost and Found

“Look at this black boot,” said Will.
“It looks like a new one.”

Bill said, “That is a little boy’s boot, but it is not Bob’s.

“I guess someone in our neighborhood lost it,” said Will.
“I will take the boot home. Maybe someone will come along and ask about it.”

Soon Jan came home from school with an animal book.
She showed it to Will. “Someone in our neighborhood lost this book,” she said. “I found it on my way home from school.”

Will said, “Maybe someone will come along and ask about it.”

But, no one came to ask about the things that Will and Jan had found.

The next day Will’s mother found some things in her back yard. She found a football, two toy cars, and a big white hat. “See what some of your friends left in out yard,” she said to Will.

Will said, “I do not know who left the things here. I will put them with the other lost things. Then I will have to think of a way to let everyone know about them.

The next day Will took some paint pens and put the names of the things they had found on a board. “This is a lost and found store,” he said.

“If a thing you see here is yours, you can take it.
If no one takes a thing, you can buy it.”

Soon all the boys and girls in the neighborhood came to Will’s yard.

“That is little Mac’s boot,” said Pat.
“I will take it to him.”

“And the two cars are Dan’s” said Nan.

“Is that your football?” said Ben to Jon.

“Yes, it is,” said Jon.

“I have been looking for it.”

“And, that white hat is Rick’s,” said Pat.

“He lost it when you boys played football.”

“Well,” said Will’s mother.

“It looks as if the store has no things to sell.

I’m glad that you boys got your things back. Now go and play, but do not forget your things when you are done playing.”

Tom's New Dog

"Let's give Tom a surprise," said Mom.

"We can give him a puppy. He will like a little puppy."

Dad said, "I think that Tom will like a puppy.

Let's give him a puppy that can run fast. Tom can feed his puppy, and the puppy can sleep in a box by Tom's bed."

So Mom and Dad went to town to buy a puppy.

They saw a black puppy and a white puppy. They saw a puppy that had black spots. They saw a puppy that was red. They said to the man at the pet store, "Will you help us find a puppy for our boy, Tom?"

"Yes, I will," said the pet store man. Do you want a puppy that will get to be big?"

"No," said Mom and Dad.

"We want a puppy that will always be little. It must run fast and like to play."

"I have a puppy like that," said the man at the pet store.

"This puppy runs fast, and it will always be little."

So Mom and Dad got the little, fast puppy from the pet store and took it home.

When Tom got home from school, Mom said, "Do you have homework?"

"I have a little homework," said Tom.

"Tom," said Mom.

"When you get your homework done, Dad and I have a surprise for you."

"What is it?" said Tom.

"What is the surprise?"

"You will see," said Dad.

"Now do your homework."

Tom went faster and faster at his homework.
Soon he had all his homework done.
Then he asked, "What is the surprise?"

Tom ran faster than Mom and Dad to his bedroom.
Mom and Dad ran after Tom.
Then Tom yelled, "A puppy, I have a little puppy."

"Yes," said Mom and Dad, "You have a little puppy that can sleep in the box by your bed. You will feed him when you eat.
And, your new, little puppy will bark, bark, bark.
But, you will have a good friend who will always like you."
"Wow," said Tom. "What a puppy. I will call him, "Surprise."

I'm Helping Mother

"Where are you going?" asked Tim.
Jim said, "I'm going for a ride. I'm helping my mother."

"Are you going to the store to buy something for her?" asked Tim.

"No," said Jim, "I'm just going for a little bike ride."

Tim said, "What a funny way for you to help your mother."

Jim said, "Look at what Bill is doing. He is helping mom, too."

Tim said, "Bill is not helping. He is just playing with that big round ball. He has to do more than that to help your mother."

"No, he doesn't," laughed Jim. "You can ask mom if we are helping her. Here she comes. Ask her."
Tim asked, "Are Bill and Jim helping you?"

"Yes, they are helping me," said Jim and Bill's mother.

"How can they help you when they are just riding bikes and playing ball?" asked Tim.

Jim and Bill's mother said, "I'll show you how they boys helped me. Come in. Come in the house, and I will show you."

So Tim went in the house.

“Now, look,” said Jim and Bill's mother.
“See how very, very nice this room looks?
It was easy for me to work in this room when Jim and Bill were not in the house. So they were a big help to me when they went out to play.”

“I see,” said Tim. “I think that I will go home to get my bike so that I can help my mom, too.”

Hide and Seek

“Rain!” said Pat. “Oh, dear!
Now we can't go out and play.
Look at it rain, rain, rain!”

The five girls, Pat, Nan, Jen, Pam, and Jill were sad that they couldn't go out to play.

Then Nan said, “We can play a game in the house. You girls hide. I'll be It. I'll try to find you. Hurry everyone! Run and find a good place to hide.”

Jen said, “Here we go, Nan. Don't look.
Don't look!”

The girls all ran off to hide. After a time Nan went to find them. She ran to a big blue chair and found
Jen right away.

“How did you find me so soon?” asked Jen.
“Did you see where I ran to hide?”
Nan laughed and said, “No, Jen.
I couldn't see a thing.”

“Now I am It,” said Jen.

The other girls ran off and found good places to hide. Jen couldn't find anyone for a long time. But at last she found Jill.

When Jill was It, she ran right to the spot where Jen was.

“You are It again, Jen,” said Jill.

Jen ran from place to place. At last she found Pam. Then it was Pam's time to be It. Pam found Jen right away, and so Jen was It once again.

"I don't like this game," said Jen.
"I am It too many times. Why can't I find you girls as fast as you find me?"

All the girls laughed.
"Oh, Jen" said Nan. "It's easy to find the place where you hide. Your new shoes tell us where to go. They go e-e-k, e-e-k when you run."

Jen looked at her new red shoes and began to laugh, too. Then off came her shoes. After that, Jen was not It again.

Let's Move that Box

Bob called to his school friend Tom.

"Tom can you go to the park and play ball this morning?"

"Yes, I can," said Tom, "but I have to go to the store for my mom first. She wants me to get some milk."

Bob said, "I'll come back soon."

When Bob came back, Tom had just then come back from the store. "I'll be right out," said Tom. "Then we can go to the park and play ball."

When Tom came back out of the house he said, "I have to do one more job before we can go to the park. Bob, you can help me."

"How can I help you?" asked Bob.

"I need to move this big box into the shed," said Tom. "Mom wants the box in the shed before it rains on it."

"How can I help you move the box into the shed?" asked Bob.

"I will call one, two, three," said Tom. "When I call three, let's both try to move the box."

"That will be easy for both of us," said Bob.

Tom called, "One, Two, Three, Move that box."

But the box did not move.

Once more Tom said, "One, Two, Three!"
But the big box did not move at all.

"Why won't this box move?" asked Bob.

"Maybe we have to get help," said Tom.

Then Tom said, "Bob, I know how to move this box. Let's take out the things in the box. Then it will be easy to move it."

So Bob and Tom took out the books in the big box. Then they moved the box into the shed. Last, they put the books back into the box.

"I'll tell my mom that we got the box into the shed," said Tom. "Then we can go to the park and play ball."

"Yes," said Bob. "Tell your mom that we moved the box when we used our heads."

"If we have to move a box again," said Tom, "we will know what to do.
We will use our heads."

Who Locked that Door?

“Hello, Mr. Brown,” said Jim.
“My mom said that I can help you in your garden.”

“Thanks, neighbor,” said Mr. Brown.
“We will get to work right now.
I left some of my tools just inside the tool house door. Will you run and get them for me?
Lock the door when you come out. I don't want our new kitten to get in there.”

Soon Jim and Mr. Brown were busy in the garden. They worked and worked.
After a time, Mrs. Brown called to them.

“You have both worked a lot.”
she said. “I know that you both must be hungry. Come in the house. I have some milk and tacos for you both.”

Mr. Brown said, “I'll be in soon.”

But Jim said, “I'll come right now.
I'm hungry! I'll just put my tools in the tool house. Then I'll come in.”

said Mr. Brown.

Jim went to the tool house and put his garden tools away. Then he ran into the house and sat down.

Mrs. Brown gave Jim some milk and a taco. Jim thanked her and began to eat. But all at once he jumped up.

“I didn't lock the tool house door,” he said. “I must do it right away. I'll hurry back, Mrs. Brown.”

Jim ran out to the tool house and locked the door.

When he came back into the house, Mrs. Brown said, “Sit down and eat your taco. Then please ask Mr. Brown to come in. I know he must be hungry by now.”

Soon Jim got up and went out to the garden. He didn't see Mr. Brown anywhere. But he saw a garden tool near the door of the tool house.

“I must put that tool away,” he thought.

When he unlocked the tool house door, there was Mr. Brown.

“Mr. Brown,” said Jim in surprise. “What are you doing in here?”

Mr. Brown said, “I came in here to put my garden tools away. Then someone locked the door. I couldn't get out.”

Jim said, “I locked the door. I didn't see you in there.”

“I know you didn't,” said Mr. Brown. “You did what I told you to do. You locked the door so that the kitten couldn't get in. Now, let's both of us go and get another taco.”
