Before and After... Landing Your First Publishing Contract with Kym Brunner

11am-Noon Next Door Theater

Are you committed to being traditionally published, dreaming of seeing your book grace the shelves of Barnes & Noble? Hoping to be reviewed by the major hitters, such as Kirkus and School Library Journal? If so, I was recently in your shoes. From brainstorming a high concept premise to seeking agent representation and down the road to publication, this workshop highlights strategies that will guide you closer to that ultimate goal...as well as what to expect after you sign the contract.

Calling All Couch Potatoes: Mining Media for Literary Gold with Katie Sparks

11:30am-12:30pm Elgin Art Showcase

Why do people watch particular television shows or movies? What is the appeal?

That same attraction applies to readers and stories. Featuring "media snapshots" from popular TV shows and movies, writers are invited to learn the various ways to insert real life aspects into their story while also keeping an element of originality.

Using the "Four Golden Nuggets", this interactive workshop offers conversation starters and strength-based writing exercises sure to be Oscar-worthy. And that's a wrap!

Content Services: Another Market for Non-fiction Writers that You Didn't Know Existed with Dave Kirk

11:30am-12:30pm Imago

Join Dave Kirk from Helium.com to learn more about writing opportunities for non-fiction writers!

Magic, Mystery, and Afterlife of Literature with Cherie Colyer

12:30-1:30pm Next Door Theater

Wands aren't limited to wizards and vampires aren't the only beings who can compel their audiences. Fiction, non-fiction, a poem, and even an article in a newspaper or magazine can contain a bit of magic and mystery. It can have an afterlife. Join me for a discussion on the magic of our words, the mystery that whisks readers to new worlds, and the afterlife of great characters.

Crafting Publishing-Ready Poetry and Fiction with Trina Sotira & Dr. Jason Snart

1-2pm Elgin Art Showcase

College of DuPage writing professors Dr. Jason Snart and Trina Sotira will help writers move their work closer to publication with a series of micro-lessons from crafting titles to removing unnecessary words, improving rhyme and fixing dialogue. Participants are encouraged to arrive with a poem or fiction sample to edit during the workshop.

History of Publishing with R.R. Donnelly Representative

1-2:30pm Imago

Join representatives from R.R. Donnelly to hear all about the history of publishing.

Introduction to Self-Publishing with Karly Kirkpatrick & G.P. Ching

2-3:30pm Next Door Theater

Learn the specifics of how to self-publish your writing from the experts.

The Well of Inspiration with Michael Murschel

3-4pm Imago

Gain immediate access to your own personal well of inspiration through this interactive workshop, designed to give you the on-board attitude and nurture to draw forth your innate creativity when and where you want and need it. Learn breakthrough tactics and techniques. Tap into your inner voice, collective memory, deep-core creativity. Techniques discussed and demonstrated include guided imagery, associative language, and learning to discern and trust your own inner voice. Take-aways include an improved attitude of reliance and trust in your personal creative connectedness, a practical matrix for unleashing creativity, and resources for follow-up.

Nail Your Rhyme, Every Time! with Lori Degman

4-5pm Next Door Theater

Learn how to write and revise a rhyming picture book, with a focus on rhyme, meter, and story.

Secrets of Writing Creative Nonfiction for Children with Anna M. Lewis

4-5pm Elgin Art Showcase

How to get started, where to get ideas, finding your niche, tips for the writing process, and strategies to get your article or book published.

ALL WORKSHOPS ARE FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC. PLEASE NOTE THE CAPACITY OF EACH SPACE WILL LIMIT NUMBER OF PARTICIPANTS ACCORDINGLY. ARRIVE EARLY TO ENSURE YOUR PARTICIPATION.

Special Events

Downtown Elgin's First Friday is a monthly celebration in support of local arts, restaurants, shops, and nightlife hot spots. Enjoy extended retail hours, special events, promotions, and live entertainment hosted by restaurants, bars, art galleries and performance venues. Check out facebook.com/DowntownElginFF for all the First Friday Elgin Literary Fest events and discounts!

Friday, February 6

5-8pm Open Mic Night at Blue Box Café

10 minute slots available for interested readers and writers. Slots are available on a first come, first served basis. So, get there early to sign up! Share your writing, drink great coffee, kick off the inaugural Elgin Literary Festival!

6-10pm More Than Opening at Side Street Studio Arts

More Than is a visual art exhibition in conjunction with the Elgin Literary Festival featuring artists who create works using the essentials of storytelling - the objects to inspire, the words to build, and the tools to tell.

Saturday, February 7

Noon-1:30pm Young Authors Lunch at Blue Box Café

BY INVITATION ONLY.

1-4pm Waterline Writers-The White Page at Imago

Get to know yourself as a writer! Most people hesitate to try writing fiction or poetry because they're not already Writers. If the white page—or blank screen—has always intrigued, called to, or frightened you, this class will give you new tools, several short starts, and a new experience of your own creativity. LIMIT 6 PEOPLE.

4:30-7pm Teen Writers and Artists Project at Imago

Join TWAP for Wordplay, a showcase featuring local poets. It consists of a workshop, open-mic time, and a performance by one of their featured performers!

Sunday, February 8

1-4pm Elgin Lit Fest for Kids at Gail Borden Public Library

Author-led story time, book-themed art projects, and more!

2-3:30pm Waterline Writers-Galleries are for Writers Too! at Side Street Studio Arts

Waterline Writers' Anne Veague has a unique approach to re-igniting creativity. With access to a gallery's paintings, photography and sculpture, it is easy to find attributes such as use of light, intentionality, scope, metaphor, transparency, emotional impact--and even framing!--that can help writers approach their own work in innovative ways. We'll intersperse informal discussion inspired by pieces in the gallery with time to work on your current writing project or maybe the new one which will come to life in the gallery! Open to creative writers of any genre, at any level. Bring laptop or pen, paper & clipboard.

5-7pm Closing Party at Side Street Studio Arts

Celebrate the closing of the inaugural Elgin Literary Festival, in the midst of More Than, the visual art exhibition featuring artists who create work using the essentials of storytelling, with the readers, writers, volunteers, and supporters who made the whole thing possible.

Keynote Speakers

Simone Elkeles is a New York Times and USA Today bestselling author of novels for teens. Simone's books have won many awards including being YALSA Top Ten Quick Picks for Reluctant Young Adult Readers, being named to the YALSA Popular Paperbacks and Teens Top Ten lists, and added to the Illinois "Read for a Lifetime" Reading List. Simone also won the coveted RITA award from the Romance Writers of America for her book Perfect Chemistry. Simone is especially proud of the fact that the Illinois Association of Teachers of English named her Author of the Year. Simone currently has eight teen books in bookstores: Perfect Chemistry, Rules of Attraction, Chain Reaction, Leaving Paradise, Return to Paradise, How to Ruin a Summer Vacation, How to Ruin my Teenage Life, How to Ruin Your Boyfriend's Reputation.

Simone was born and raised in the suburbs of Chicago, where she still lives today. Simone went to the University of Illinois in Urbana-Champaign and received her Bachelor's of Science there in Psychology in 1992. She continued her education at Loyola University-Chicago where she received her Master's of Science degree in Industrial Relations while working for a manufacturing company creating diversity programs for their employees.

She loves animals (she has two dogs - a labradoodle and a German Shepherd), kids (she also has two of those) and her family. In her spare time she's the Hockey Mom for her kids hockey teams and is an active Girl Scout leader specially trained in outdoor education. She also spends time mentoring other teen and adult authors. (She also loves sushi, which you can probably tell by reading her books.) Simone writes about teens because she was a teen in the 80's (when spiked hair and blue eye shadow were "rad") and she loves writing about those exciting teen relationships and romances.

Sarah Mirk I am a Portland, Oregon-based editor and writer interested in most things, including primarily sexual politics, media, and history. Since January 2013, I've been the online editor at Bitch Media, where I write and edit daily feminist articles and host the twice-monthly radio podcast Popaganda. I've also worked as a staff writer for weekly newspapers The Portland Mercury and The Stranger and have published work in various magazines (including Portland Monthly, Oregon Humanities, and Symbolia). I also write, draw, and edit nonfiction comics. My nontraditional guidebook to relationships Sex From Scratch: Making Your Own Relationship Rules was published in August 2014. The Portland Tribune did a laughably kind profile of me a few years ago and Portland comics collective Gridlords once called me the "hardest working woman in Portland." The Yale Daily News recently ran my photo under the headline "Bitches Get Stuff Done."

Shannon Stoker has been writing her entire life. She decided to give writing a serious try after her husband bought her a small dog as a birthday gift. Nucky stole her heart immediately and she wanted a job that provided more flexibility to stay with him. When she's not writing Shannon enjoys watching an insane amount of television shows as well as horror movies. Shannon got a little taste of television herself when she competed on an episode of TLC's Four Weddings. You can catch her episode in replays on the channel. Shannon Stoker was born in Clawson, Michigan and raised in Elgin, Illinois. She currently lives in DeKalb, Illinois with her husband Andy and small dog Nucky.

Joanne Zienty Born and raised on Chicago's South Side, Joanne Zienty vividly remembers the "glow of industry" that lit the night sky with an orange haze and can still summon the acrid odor of the fumes of coke ovens and blast furnaces, although the steel mills have been shuttered for decades. Joanne spent a lot of time wandering the aisles of her local branch of the Chicago Public Library. Besides wandering, she also did a lot of reading. But when she couldn't find the stories she wanted to read, she started writing her own. Joanne's first success as a writer came in 5th grade, when she completed a 70 page novel - an homage to Walter Farley's Black Stallion series - and had her first play - a Thanksgiving melodrama - produced on the stage of her elementary school. She's been writing ever since.
