

GLENDORA---The Music Committee Quartet of the Verdugo Hills Chorus of Sweet Adelines will perform for the Glendora Woman's Club at the club's monthly luncheon-meeting on Tuesday, February 2.

The club day will begin at 10:30 a.m. with a social time, followed by a business meeting at 11 a.m., the catered luncheon, and the musical program.

The well-known Music Committee Quartet has been singing together for a number of years and presenting special programs featuring 4-part harmony a cappella style, said program vice president Helen Storland.

In keeping with the many special days celebrated during February, the display theme for the club's monthly members' participating art display will be "patriotic." For this display, members are encouraged to share items from home that reflect the display theme, said project chair Mary Moore.

Coming up on March 15 will be the club's annual Fashion Show and Luncheon that provides funds for the club's many philanthropies, charities, and service projects. Plans include the addition of a new participation category to the Fashion show program that would list sponsors, in addition to the listing of donors said Chris Lear, ways and means vice president and show chair.
