

Trancas Crossing PARK

Welcome to Trancas Crossing Park

Trancas Crossing Park is a unique, 33 acre river landscape within the City of Napa. The park provides access to the Napa River, its floodplain and a diverse array of wetland and riparian habitats.

Trancas Crossing Park reveals much of the Napa valley's history. Because of its natural position at the upper limits of tidal waters, the site has been the location of Native American settlements, an important Mexican era landing, a diversion dam providing water for the City of Napa and a major river crossing.

The park site was granted to Salvador Vallejo in 1838 as part of the Napa Rancho. A century and a half later, local resident Johnny Miller donated the land to the Land Trust of Napa County – enabling the formation of Trancas Crossing Park.

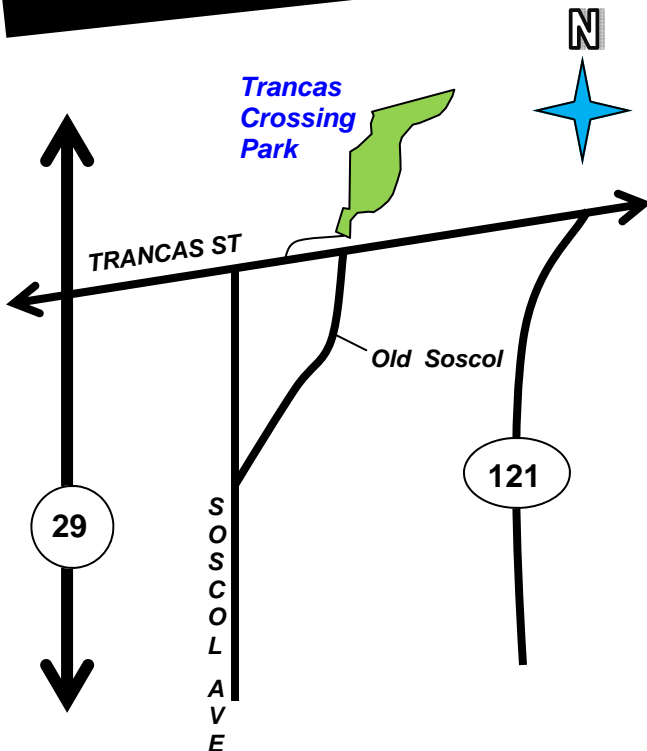

A Self Guided Tour

CITY of NAPA

PARKS & RECREATION SERVICES DEPARTMENT

To learn more about
Napa Parks and Recreation
Contact us at (707)257-9529

Or visit us online
www.naparec.com

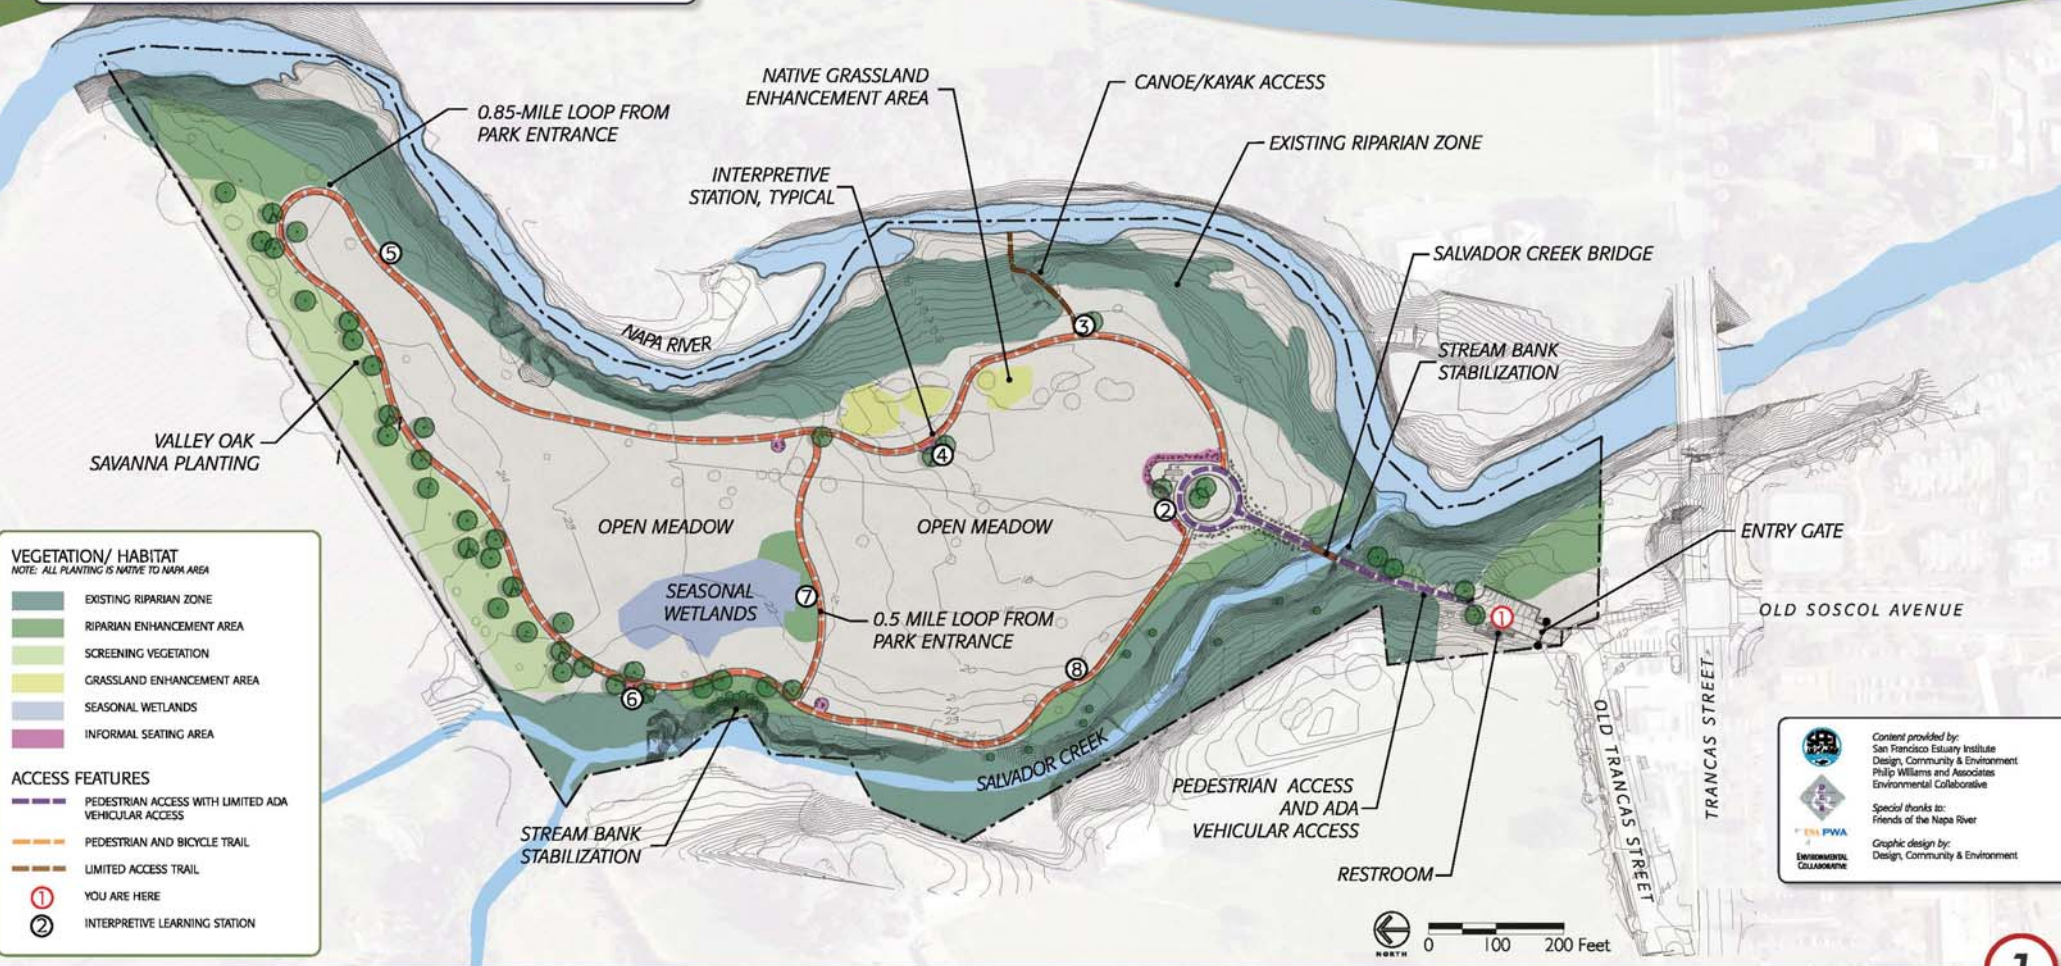

Welcome to Trancas Crossing Park!

Trancas Crossing Park is a unique, 33-acre river landscape within the city of Napa. The park provides access to the Napa River, its floodplain, and a diverse array of wetland and riparian habitats.

Trancas Crossing Park also reveals much of Napa Valley's history. Because of its natural position at the upper limit of tidal waters, the site has been the location for Native American settlements, an important Mexican-era landing, a diversion dam providing water for the city of Napa, and a major river crossing.

The park site was granted to Salvador Vallejo in 1838 as part of the Napa Rancho. A century and a half later, local resident Johnny Miller donated the land to the Land Trust of Napa County – enabling the formation of Trancas Crossing Park.

Trancas Crossing PARK

Content provided by:
San Francisco Estuary Institute
Design, Community & Environment
Philip Williams and Associates
Environmental Collaborative

Special thanks to:
Friends of the Napa River

Graphic design by:
Design, Community & Environment