

Ushvash
The Head of the main council of Sages

Peta
The Giant Ushvash's Son

Yogo the Dwarf
Peta's Best Friend

Princess Moonluna

Queen Komodo

King Komodo

Samajs
Spaceship's Captain

Prince Guru

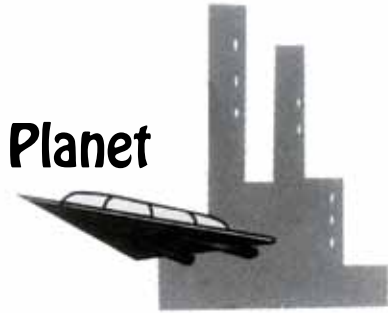

Dragonlion
Palace's Gate Keeper

CHAPTER 1

Altia, the Blue Planet

In Altia, that is also called the blue planet, signs from other planets had been looked for for many years.

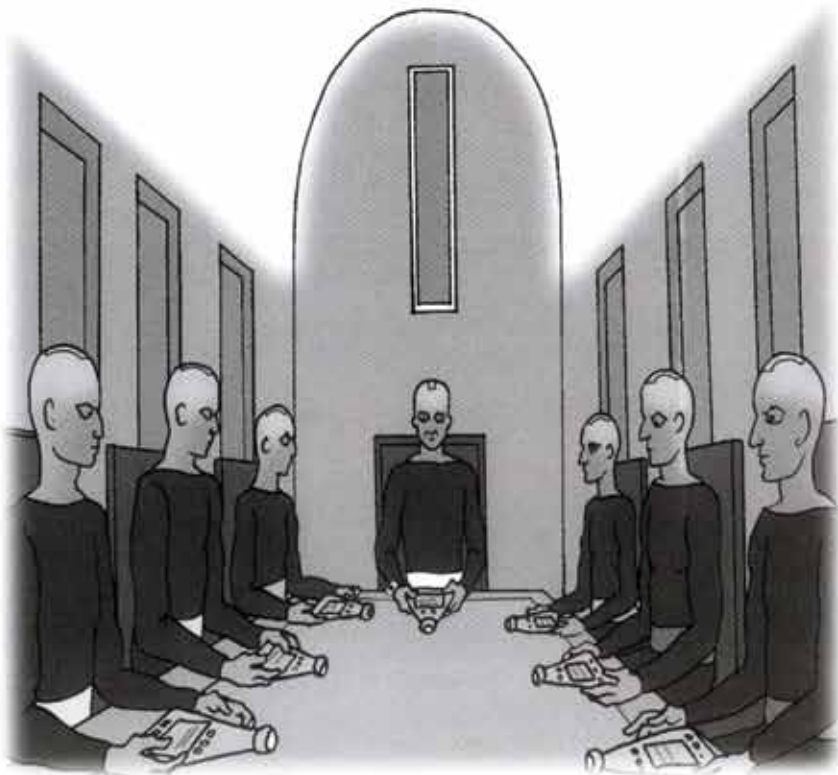

The inhabitants of the planet, the dwarfs and the giants, were very lonely in the big space, because they didn't have a galaxy surrounding them as it used to be in the distant past, and they had never got a signal. And suddenly, there was a signal from another planet, appearing on a background of vegetation and a huge creamy river flowing within.

"We're the Dragonlions, the habitants of Ardekon, the green planet.

"This is a lonely planet that is revolving around a yellow sun with an orange moon.

"We're looking for a bridge of peace and friendship with other planets, so we could share our knowledge and wisdom with their habitants."

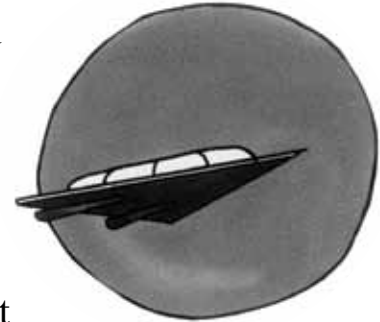

The announcement regarding the signal that was received from the new planet moved fast. The employees in the observatory recorded the signal and sent its content as "a top secret message" to Ushvash, the head of the main council of sages. Following the signal regarding the new planet, all members of the council of sages' management were called to an emergency meeting.

The giants, members of the council of sages' management, are discussing the new signal.

Altia, the blue planet, was a dry planet and in the sky there was nothing but a very hot red sun. It all started in the very distant past when a horrible nuclear war occurred on the planet. Half of its habitants died.

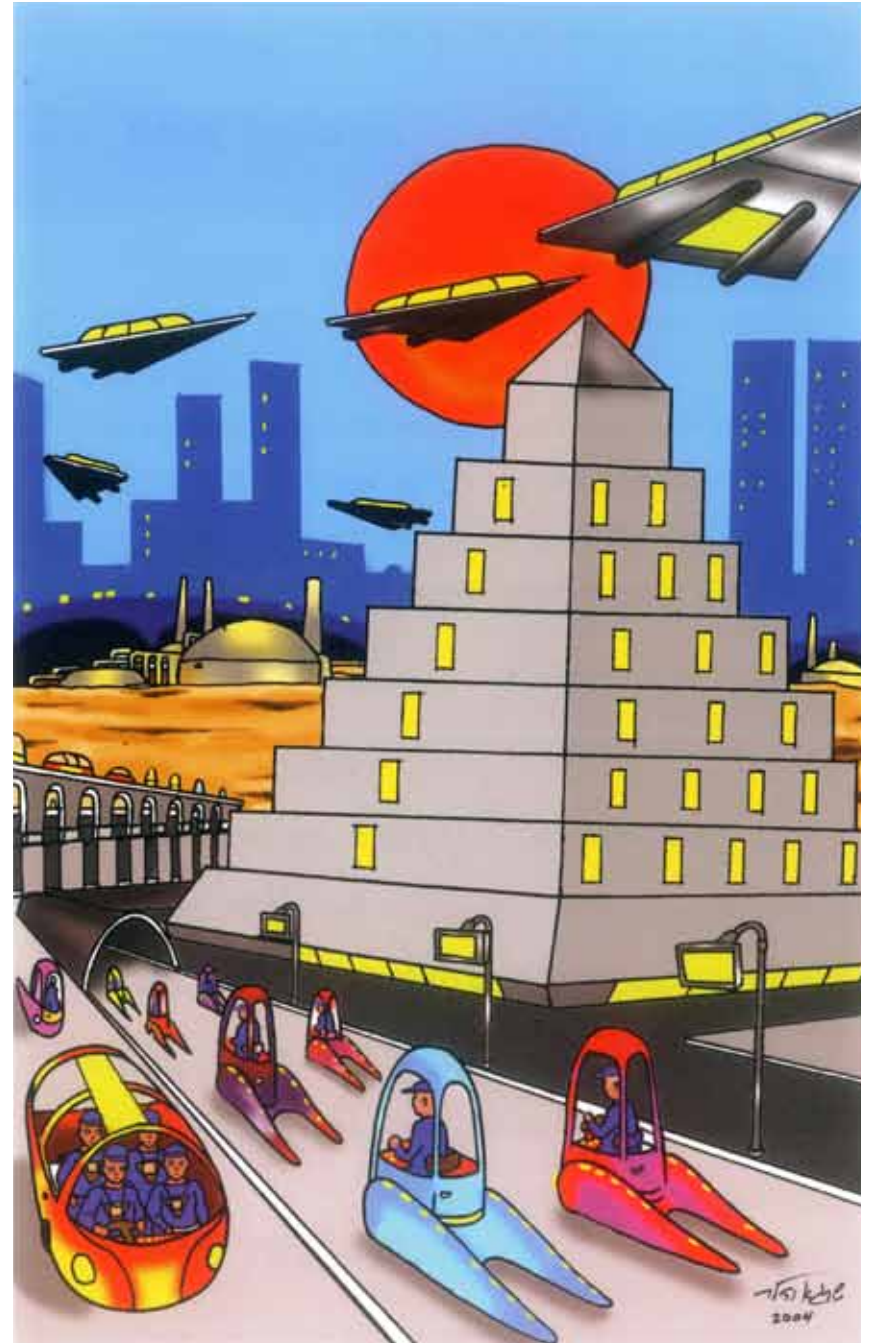

The nuclear reactors that were spread all over the planet were hurt and exploded, and the land absorbed enormous quantities of toxic and harmful materials. Since then the land didn't succeed to grow new plants and it became barren. The rain stopped pouring, the red sun became warmer and warmer, the water dried in the big seas and in the rivers. Everything was dry.

The management of the council of sages

Highway in Altia

General view of Altia, the blue planet and the habitants who survived the nuclear war decided that there would be no more wars. Since then the elders of the planet are smiling and saying that "There are no wars; there will be no wars."

CHAPTER 2

Peta the Giant and Yoyo
the Dwarf Are Friends

When the signal was retrieved from Ardekon, the green planet, in the biggest observatory in Altia, Peta the giant, the son of Ushvash, was sitting in his room, on an armchair, watching a giant screen in the shape of an eye and switching channels. It was a state-of-the-art TV including computer applications with lights and quiet sounds accompanied by pleasant music. Peta zapped, and worked, and wrote, and surfed the net. He didn't realize that someone had opened the door and entered his room. It was Yoyo the dwarf, his best friend. He had another name, but nobody was aware of it. Everybody called him Yoyo because he was always jumping. Yoyo