UK NATIONAL CHRISTIAN CONFERENCES

MALE/FEMALE SPEAKER STATISTICS

REPORT 2015

Version 1

BY NATAILIE COLLINS

www.project328.info
Introduction

In November 2013 Helen Austin and Natalie Collins collated the number of male and female speakers at Christian conferences across the UK. This provided a snapshot into the gendered dynamic of these conferences and led to conversations across the UK about how to create a platform that reflects the diversity and experience of UK Christians. These conversations have led some event organisers to become more proactive in seeking to have a balanced platform. Also, from the conversations a project to continue and build on this work has been set up. Project 3:28 has been developed to:

• Build a movement of women and men committed to challenging imbalance and promoting gender justice in language, action and culture.
• Develop a database of diverse, capable speakers.
• Collate and publicise the gender balance on the Christian platform.
• Provide Christian events and organisations with a theological, practical framework to achieve gender justice.
• Share knowledge and educate in the area of gender justice.

This report will layout the statistics for male and female speakers on the national Christian platform for 2015 and compare this to the data available for 2013 and 2014.

Methodology

Project 3:28 receives no funding. The statistics within this report are gathered either from data available in the public domain or they have been provided by event organisers. This year the statistics were compiled by members of the Project 3:28 collective who have worked to do this on a voluntary basis. The report aims to inform and ignite discussion about gender parity on the Christian platform and every effort is made to ensure the data is accurate.

Please contact Project 3:28 on 07928 031580 if aware of any discrepancy.

Analysis

This analysis is based on the assumption that conferences should aim to achieve 50/50 representation for women and men on the platform. It is recognised that the statistics reflect very differently on an event with a large number of speakers than with a small amount; at an event with 60 contributors, 25% is equal to 15 people; whereas an event with 4 contributors, 25% equates to only 1 person.
Platform Balance 2015

The events that had the most balanced platforms in 2015, in order of most to least are:

(men/women)

1. Baptist Assembly (52/48)
2. Church and Media Conference (47/53)
3. Soul Survivor (55/45)
4. Greenbelt (56/44)
5. Youthwork Conference (57/43)
6. New Wine (59/41)
7. Premier Digital* (61/39)
8. Youthwork Summit (38/62)
9. Spring Harvest/One Event (62/38)
10. Creationfest (67/33)
11. Momentum (69/31)
12. Faith Camp, Focus (HTB), Hillsong (70/30)
13. HTB Leadership Conference (75/25)
14. Newday (76/24)
15. (Joint) Westpoint, Keswick, Word Alive (80/20)
16. New Horizon (90/10)

*Both the Church and Media Conference and the Youthwork Summit had a majority of female speakers at their events.

Greenbelt said that “Across the board – including the other genres – things equal out and even tip in favour of female representation. But we understand you’re only looking at the talks end of the programme.”

Spring Harvest proactively contacted us to provide this data and are actively seeking to create a balanced platform.

*Previous known as the Christian New Media Conference
