

Timeless Barn Company™

Reclaiming America's Past

It all begins with a barn...

Think of morning sunlight shining through the windows, making the rich timbers glow with warmth. Spacious yet cozy, open yet private. Large, open spaces that pair perfectly with lots of glass. Picture patrons sampling the wares of a winery, music flowing through the rafters of a concert venue, or just a cup of coffee beside the woodstove or fireplace on a cold winter morning. Consider saving a quintessential American icon, built by master craftsmen, that is in danger of disappearing from our landscape and using it to create your own unique space!

Timeless Barn Company™ specializes in adapting vintage barns into amazing personal and commercial spaces. We have years of experience in selecting high quality barns, dismantling them, then restoring or converting them as per our customers' designs and/or needs. Our product line is the development of specific ideas and concepts that have evolved into finished products over the course of the last 15 years.

It begins with a barn...

The dictionary defines a barn as “a large farm outbuilding that is used mainly to store grain and house livestock.” We at Timeless Barn Company™ know that a barn can be so much more than that! Barns are not uniquely American, but the 18th century barns are uniquely ours.

When immigrants came from Europe looking for a better life, they could not have imagined the volume and scale of the forests that waited to be cleared and, once cleared, the timbers produced were second to none. No longer did the craftsman have to work with the crooked, low quality materials that he built with in Europe.

Now he had straight, clear-grained wood of staggering lengths to work with. Some of the trees that the settlers found were of such high quality that the lowest branches were eighty feet from the ground. Timber frames were transformed in two or three generations from small buildings with high pitched roofs to massive structures that could exceed one hundred and twenty feet in length. Immigrant craftsmen used the experience and knowledge of precision building design to create masterpieces.

It all began with a barn

Fifteen years ago Timeless Barn Company™ owner, Dean Smith, “raised” his first timber frame when he built his own home from an 1821 barn he found in Clinton county in Indiana. An electrician by trade, Dean immediately saw the possibilities these historic hidden treasures provided, and Timeless Barn Company™ was established in 2001.

Since then, Timeless Barn Company™ has built a reputation for high-quality products, working with our clients to help them realize their dreams, whether it be a custom timber frame home, a winery, or an artist studio.

In days gone by, a new barn was raised by the hands of an entire community. The work was done primarily by hand and with no power tools. Today, Timeless Barn Company™ blends time honored craftsmanship with modern technology and Dean’s 11 man crew are all highly skilled with each member of the team bringing something unique to the job.

Timeless Beauty and Craftsmanship

Timeless Barn Company™ uses only the finest reclaimed wood for our projects, recreating historic timber frame homes, reminiscent of America’s past, using high quality timbers salvaged from pristine vintage barns. TBC™ has built a reputation on quality. You can see it in everything we do.

With fifteen years experience in reclaiming extraordinary timber frame barns, our driving force is to provide our customers with innovative, reclaimed products that are superior to what other companies provide.

Our Product Line

Our product line has evolved over the last fifteen years and continues to evolve today. Timeless Barn Company™ is not just about custom timber framing. Because we know vintage timbers are not a renewable resource, we like to recycle every bit of an old barn that we can.

Options such as trim packages, custom cabinetry, or interior barn wood are available as well as flooring and paneling, which is exceptional for the density of the wood and the character that only comes from vintage hardwood.

We build our own furniture and we also collaborate with a few sister companies that build their own pieces of art. Not everyone sees wood the same way. Some of the most obscure pieces of wood make the most interesting pieces of furniture.

Bar tops, fireplace mantles and tables are just a few of the items we offer. We also sell antique lumber to anyone wishing to build their own project or furniture. We offer custom sawing so you can order old growth lumber sawed to your needs. Availability of wood changes all the time, although some species are usually available. We have most of the Midwestern hardwoods that were native to Indiana.

American Revolution Colonial Saltbox

In the 17th and 18th centuries, families built homes that would grow with them. As those families expanded, so did their need for additional rooms. One solution was to add rooms to the back of an existing house, then expand the roof to cover the new addition. The remodeled home looked like the traditional containers that held household salt, so the homes were nicknamed “saltboxes.”

Inspired by their elegant beauty, Timeless Barn Company is offering a historically accurate replica of the classic colonial saltbox. We call it the American Revolution. When we set out to revitalize the homes of early America, we wanted to offer something that paid homage to our American architectural heritage.

The American Revolution is handcrafted using the same tools that our forefathers used to build the originals and is a replica colonial saltbox built from vintage barn timbers, many of which were growing in the forest in the early 1200's. When combined with hand-scraped wide plank floors, paneling crafted from vintage lumber, and replica colonial furniture, it is truly possible to recapture the charm and comfort of a colonial American home.

Commercial Venues

A barn not only makes an awesome home, it can lend itself easily to virtually any commercial venue as well. Imagine a winery, restaurant or even a bed and breakfast. We can assist you with any commercial project you can envision.

Timeless Barn Company™ recently added a timber frame event pavilion to Devil's Thumb Ranch in Colorado. The building is known as High Lonesome Barn and is a popular venue for weddings and conferences.

Furniture and More

Old growth barn wood harvested by our ancestors is not a renewable resource. Timeless Barn Company™ tries to recycle all of its wood. In doing so, we not only make our own furniture but can provide trim packages, trusses, or accent timbers, along with flooring, bar tops and mantle pieces. Some of the most unique and beautiful pieces are made with the short timbers that are left over after a job.

Have your own design? Bring it in and we can work with you to make the piece you've been envisioning. Have your own piece of wood? We can help you design something to bring out the beauty in it.

Custom Timber Frame Homes

A barn home is a place where guests feel at home from the moment they walk through the door. Maybe it's the warmth in the ancient timbers, the simple things that are enriched by being in a structure that has so much history, character, and its own personality. Maybe it's the earthy feeling that comes from being surrounded by wood and the homey atmosphere created by the people who live there. Perhaps it's the sunlight shining through the large windows. Whatever its magic, there is nothing like a timber frame home.

Picture yourself on a porch overlooking a lake or a mountain range! Since barns were quite modular in the way they were built, Timeless Barn Company™ can customize your home to fit any setting, size, or location

Artist Studios

Just watching the sun move through the day and looking at the ancient old growth forest timbers in the light is enough to make you feel peaceful, the result lending itself to a creative mindset.

Music soaring through the rafters, the rich, mellow sound of voices singing in harmony, an acoustic guitar....can you hear it?

Artists need an environment that encourages their creativity. This artist's home has amazing acoustics and is often the center of impromptu musical gatherings.

Timeless Barn Company™ understands the needs of artists to create their own inspiring places. We can help you design a recording room in your home, a home studio, or musical event pavilion. If you can dream it, we can build it!

Dedication to Quality

TBC loves helping and working with people to reach their goals. Our services include finding the right barn then working through design options with your architect, engineering, or design team to assure your project goes smoothly from start to finish. We offer original barn frames and smaller structures built from larger barns that utilize much of the original joinery in the design. These are our Lake House, Mountain Home, Colonial Saltbox, and Outdoor Living Designs. Our product line includes timber trusses, flooring, barn siding, furniture, and fireplace mantles.

Portfolio

Timeless Barn Company has been featured on Modern Marvels (Season 18, Episode 8), as well as in various magazines and newspaper articles.
