

Liberating Your Business – Are You in the Way?

Board Room Briefing Session
28th May, 9-10am

As business owners we are often wearing many hats: leaders, managers, and operators. Both on a day to day level and when planning for the future, we can become conflicted and confused about the best way to maximise and progress the business. Understanding the role our mindset can play enables us to gain clarity, resilience, to see fresh possibility and to access new levels of our own resourcefulness – it is crucial to peace of mind and business success.

- Understand how you can best liberate yourself to liberate your business
- Gain fresh realisation about how your mindset can help or hinder you
- Reflect and share some of the key questions for the future of business with like-minded people

Piers Thurston is one of London's leading coaches and corporate trainers, specialising in transformation, and has just relocated to the Sunshine Coast. He has been coaching, facilitating and training professionally since 2001. He has worked with blue chip clients globally, including Unilever, Mars, Kraft, Coca Cola, Ford, HSBC, Bacardi, Tesco, and the UK government. His private clients range from national newspaper editors to professional sports people.

"Piers has the ability to sprinkle gold dust of clarity as he interacts with a group, a rare talent indeed."

Dr Lilian Beattie, President of the Adlerian Society UK

"A world class facilitator, never seen anyone do it better" Dr Osie Stewart