

Angelica Wilk - Destination Specialist

I was born and raised in Brooklyn, NY, I constantly leave the city to travel to new destinations and adventures. I have traveled to 13 countries - various countries in Europe and the Caribbean mostly.

Islands are my favorite, as is scuba diving and laying on a beach. I am learning along so I can become a Destination Specialist for the Caribbean.

Working in social field, I always give a helping hand to those in need and those who cannot care for themselves on their own. I am always coordinating with other providers and liaisons. My dedication to people and my precise responses are my greatest skill besides my open and non-judgemental personality. I look forward to working with everyone who comes my way.
