

“Love is in the Air”

It seems everywhere I turn there's LOVE! Post Christmas, New Year & Valentines Day's proposals have left the country a wash with people planning their big day.

And I am no exception! YAY

It is so exciting to be hearing from bride's, who wish to add some vintage elegance to their special day. I have heard some really lovely proposal stories this year, so I felt it only fair that I share mine!

On Christmas Day Simon, Emelia's daddy popped the question, it came completely out of the blue, which I have to say is the very best way- an extremely pleasant surprise. A friend once said to me, “don't spoil every special occasion, holiday, birthday, anniversary by wondering will he ask, enjoy those special moments because he will ask” She was so right. I most defiantly wasn't waiting out for a proposal, in my view we are a family unit already, but all girls dream of being a MRS to a degree and I am so glad I listened to my friend-Thank You Jo!

Simon gave me a card on Christmas Day, it was from our daughter, it said “To Mummy, I love you millions, so will you marry my daddy?????”

Simon then got down on one knee and presented me with a family ring. Unbeknown to me he had been dropping hints about rings for months and I had poo poo-ed each and every one, he felt it safer for me to chose my own, he was right, I am still looking as I haven't found it yet (Vintage of course!)

Simon had asked both my mum and dad for my hand in marriage about a month prior, he really had covered ever base. I think they thought he had changed his mind!

With all the excitement I couldn't cook a descent Christmas dinner, well that's my excuse anyhow!! My legs were like jelly.

We are both really enjoying planning our special day, we shall keep you posted...

If you are planning your big day, take a peek at our on line store and gallery for all things vintage.

We offer a vintage crockery and decorations hire service, from vintage inspired birdcages to bunting and much, much more.

I would like to dedicate this blog to the love of my life, my soul mate and best friend, Simon and friends that got engaged around the same time as us, Joanne & David, Stacey & Charlie CONGRATULATIONS!
