

2014 NFL Draft Small School Rankings

NFL rosters are littered with small school college players that have made an impact. Each year an average of 14 to 20 FCS, DII, DIII and NAIA players are drafted. And even more sign as undrafted free agents.

Just take a look at some of today's NFL Stars. Cowboy signal caller Tony Romo played at Eastern Illinois. Bronco star tight end Julius Thomas went to Portland State. Star quarterback Joe Flacco of the Baltimore Ravens played at Delaware. The list goes on and on.

NUC NFL Analyst, Taber Small, takes a look at the top 100 non-FCS players in the upcoming 2014 draft. The players are ranked in order by their projected draft grade.

Who will be the next small school college football star to shine on football's biggest stage?
