Dixie Cream Cafe is dream come true

*For first-time restaurateur Stephanie Desaulniers,
the new Dixie Cream Cafe in downtown Windermere is a 30-year dream finally come to fruition.*

"It's been a true labor of love," Desaulniers said as she described the effort to get the restaurant ready for business.

Finding herself at a crossroads in life last year, the longtime Windermere-area resident discovered the former Ready Market site vacant and available for lease.

"We don't open cans — everything is from scratch," Desaulniers said. "That's something I think sets us apart from a chain restaurant. We're very proud of what we put out on the plate."

Top billing on the menu is the "Lew," named in honor of Desaulniers' father, who was himself a longtime restaurant owner. The omelet filled with Greek feta cheese, spinach, kalamata olives and tomatoes is Dixie Cream's most popular.

*"I absolutely love this restaurant," Desaulniers said.
"It's like having a baby — you work for months and months, and you finally have this enormous responsibility and you have to find its personality..."*
