

Domaine de Marrans

Fleurie 2014

Beaujolais, France

January, 2016

Score: 16/20 Points

Sandy soils over granite. Aged only in foudres.

Bright lightish crimson. There's a definite mineral quality here, as if you can taste the granite. There's tangy dark-red fruit and very fine tannins. This is more savoury and dry than many a Fleurie, rather a serious side to an often flirtatious wine. Good Value. (JH)
