DETAILED SIDE EVENTS PROGRAMME

A NEW FINANCIAL ARCHITECTURE FOR LOCALIZING FfD: A CRITICAL DIMENSION TO THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE POST-2015 DEVELOPMENT AGENDA

Monday, 13 July 2015, 6.15 pm – 7.45 pm,
Intercontinental Hotel, room Warka

"Many of the investments to achieve the SDGs will take place at the sub-national level and be led by local authorities." (UNSG Synthesis Report).

The global organizations of local and regional authorities, together with the governments of France, have been working on mechanisms for mobilizing funding for local governments to provide infrastructure and services, and unlocking the economic potential of urban areas and territories. The side event aims to enhance the need of local development resources through fiscal reforms and access to long term financing. Different examples of domestic resources mobilization mechanisms at local levels will be presented.

This side event will focus on solutions and funding mechanisms at local levels to make the SDGs a reality. It will put the emphasis on the need of strong legal and institutional framework especially in term of fiscal reforms. Access to alternative sources of funding for long-term investments (loans, financial markets, public private partnerships...) will also be discussed as long as capacities building issues. A greater access of local governments to capacity building programs and to a wide range of financing instruments, as well as global facilities such as the global environmental and resilient funds, or domestic capital markets, is crucial to make sustainable local financing a reality at a scale and complexity that the new urban century demands. The panelists invited for the side event will represent local and national governments and financial institutions to generate constructive dialogue towards path for action and reform.

FINANCING SUSTAINABLE URBAN DEVELOPMENT:

A MAJOR CHALLENGE OF THE POST-2015 AGENDA

Tuesday, 14 July 2015, 6.15 pm – 7.45 pm,
Intercontinental Hotel, room Warka

Well-managed urbanization is a major sustainable development opportunity. In the coming two decades urban population is expected to grow from 3.5 billion to 6 billion (from 50% to 65% of global population). Cities are the primary engines of economic growth and development. Yet, there are cities home to extreme deprivation and environmental degradation with one billion people living in slums – requiring immediate and effective solutions. Local and Regional Authorities together with UN agencies have been working in examples and mechanisms that can contribute to support urban development, with more equitable investment, in efforts to create sustainable and resilient cities. Beyond general urban financing, there is a huge gap in addressing climate change adaptation and resilience. For that part, the Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction adopted by governments this March already calls for extensive engagement of local governments in addressing resilience.

This side event will focus on solutions and funding mechanisms to urban areas to make the post 2015 agendas a reality. This will include specific mechanisms that have been proposed and discussed during the preparatory process of FfD as well as global facilities such as the global environmental and resilient funds that are yet to be tapped. Discussion will also focus on institutional, policy and capacity issues and barriers that hamper urban local governments from unlocking local finances and accessing domestic capital market. The purpose is taking stock of promising possibilities and key action areas to make sustainable local finance, public and private, a reality at a scale and complexity that the new urban century demands.

LOCAL AUTHORITIES FINANCING INSTITUTIONS AND POOLED FINANCING MECHANISMS: LEVERAGE FOR MOBILIZING AND CATALYZING NEW RESOURCES FOR DEVELOPMENT

Tuesday, 14 July 2015, 8.15 to 9.45 am
Radisson BLU Hotel, Sholla 2

New resources for development can and should be tapped into at the local and regional level. But how local and regional capacities for raising and catalyzing these resources for local and national development can be implemented in order to offer an actionable roadmap for countries and development partners ?

Effective financing institutions and mechanisms for local authorities are vital to implement national development policies, raise new resources, and promote local economic development to enable sustainable development of countries. Municipal development funds and subnational pooled financing mechanisms are in place in settings of high-income, emerging, middle or low income countries.

The side event will show their potential contribution to the implementation of the global agreement for development financing. It will bring together key actors involved in these areas and will call for concerted action to strengthen these institutions and mechanisms, in effective cooperation frameworks with their direct customers (cities and regions)..

INNOVATING IN MUNICIPAL FINANCE: JOINT STRATEGIES FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE NEW DEVELOPMENT AGENDA – CALL FOR JOINT ACTION

Tuesday, 14 July 2015, Lunchtime (1.15 pm – 2.45 pm)
Elilly Hotel, Gada Hall

While only about one-tenth of the World's largest urban areas are in LDCs, 30 of the 35 most rapidly-growing large city worldwide are located in LDCs. In this context, local and regional governments are instrumental for SDGs implementation, but their financial options have not kept pace. This session will present the potentiality of innovative financial strategies, the role of the different actors at international (DFIs, international organizations), national (Governments, financial intermediaries, private sector) and local levels and their conditions of success to allow LDCs to create the appropriate conditions to respond to the development challenges with the local governments.

Different innovative financial approaches, inspired by developing and emergent countries have been identified as replicable, if adapted to LDCs realities, in order to mobilize the necessary financial resources to face those challenges, creating the appropriate conditions and tools to attract private investors and catalyse local and national savings, to access step by step the capital markets, and stimulate the local economic development in order to generate resilient business networks, employment and revenue for households, thus stronger fiscal basis and revenue for basic services provision and maintenance, as well as local authorities' creditworthiness to leverage cheaper financing. This event will aim at presenting those innovative financial strategies and the prerequisites to allow their success as well as launching the UNCDF programme on Municipal Investment Finance.

FINANCING LOCAL AND REGIONAL GOVERNMENTS: TOWARDS A PROJECT OF GLOBAL OBSERVATORY OF LOCAL FINANCES

Wednesday, 15 July 2015, 6.15 pm – 7.45 pm
Elilly Hotel, Classic Hall

The range of instruments available for the international community to get a better knowledge of the financial health of local governments is very limited. Numerous initiatives are under way, but they don't give a global vision of the state of local finances worldwide. Many countries do not even have their own national reporting system. Such a national system would allow, on the one hand, a framework for dialogue between various levels of government, and, on the other hand, a way of ensuring the follow-up of local and territorial development.

UCLG, through its Committee on Local Finance for Development, has launched, together with the OECD and the French Development Agency, a first study aiming at bringing to light the main financial indicators related to local governments in 80 countries worldwide.

This session offers a global overview of the initiatives under way, with the aim of thinking about drafting a roadmap that will allow these gaps to be addressed, towards the creation of a common tool for the follow-up of fiscal decentralization. The participants to the panel will be invited to share the outcomes of their own initiatives, and to express potential synergies that could be found in order to build such a tool, that will be crucial for the follow-up of the post-2015 development agenda.

LOCAL FINANCING FOR DEVELOPMENT INNOVATION IN MUNICIPAL FINANCE FOR INCLUSIVE GROWTH

Wednesday, 15 July 2015, 9am - 6pm
African Union Conference Centre (Lars Lulseged St)

Municipalities around the world (bigger and small, urban and rural) are experiencing innovative financial strategies through the mobilization of local resources (land value based financing, local taxes) or accessing to external resources through private investments and accessing the capital market.

To allow local governments to develop such mechanisms, especially in the Least Developed Countries (LDC), it is necessary to create the appropriate legal, regulatory and economic environment and to organize the adapted intermediaries.

It is also necessary to organize the adapted intermediaries at regional and national level and to create the capacities of municipalities to plan bankable projects and creditworthy projects to attract investors.

This event will bring together local governments and their partners such as governments representatives, UN Agencies, international and national financial institutions, private investors, rating agencies and foundations to exchange and share their practices and experiences on innovative financial strategies addressed to local governments.

It aims at identifying the opportunities to inspire and develop innovative models in LDCs contexts gathering different potential partners, in a moment where member states are gathering in Addis to discuss the future financial framework of the world's development agenda, willing to remind the international community that all development is local, and as such, all levels of government share the responsibility to serve the citizen and need to be enabled to do so. Local financing is critical for inclusive and equitable growth and needs to be considered as part of the global discourse on Financing for Development.

In its conclusion, the event will propose an action plan and possibilities to influence the on-going process for the implementation of the SDGs and the future new urban agenda.

Organizing partners: UN-Habitat, UNCDF and the FMDV - Global Fund for Cities Development
