THE ENLIGHTENER OF GEORGIA

S AINT NINA was a fourth century Saint who is credited with spreading Christianity in Georgia, for which she is commonly referred to as its "Enlightener" and "Equal to the Apostles." She was born in the region of Cappadocia in the latter part of the third century. Her father Zabulon was a general in the Roman army; her mother the sister of Patriarch Juvenaly of Jerusalem. It is said that she was also the cousin of St. George the Great-Martyr.

When Nina was 12 years old, her parents both entered into the monastic life, leaving her under the spiritual care of Patriarch Juvenaly. Even at an early age, Nina had hopes of going to Georgia to spread the Gospel of Jesus Christ. One night, the Theotokos appeared to her in a dream, revealing to her that she, herself, was supposed to take Christianity to Georgia, but was never able to do so. The Virgin instructed Nina to go there to do the work of the Lord, promising to be her personal guardian and protectress. In the dream, Nina was given a cross by the Theotokos formed out of grapevines. When Nina awoke from sleep, she was clutching the cross in her hands!

With the blessing of the Patriarch, Nina set out for Georgia, where she quickly gained the love and respect of the Georgian people. She was successful in converting the Georgian Emperor Mirian, his wife Nana and their son, Bakar to Christianity. Bakar himself became a zealous assistant to Nina as she traveled the rugged terrain of Georgia preaching about our Lord wherever she went. It is ironic that while many Christians were being martyred throughout the Roman Empire by the Emperor Diocletian, Georgia, throughout the tireless work of the saintly Nina, had become a Christian nation.

St. Nina peacefully fell asleep in the Lord in 335 AD. Her relics rest in a church in Samtavro.
