City of Raymond

Shoreline Master Program Update Process

On-Line Information Resources

March 2014

The City of Raymond encourages all of its citizens to participate in the update of its Shoreline Master Program. To help everyone participate effectively in this process, the city has put together a list of on-line, self-education information resources.

These on-line resources contain information about the Shoreline Management Act, Shoreline Master Programs, and guidelines for completing them. There are also links to other cities that have completed the process.

You can find an electronic version of this brochure on the Public Works Department page of the City of Raymond website at www.cityofraymond.com.

The Raymond Timberland Library also has a collection of many of these documents.

Shoreline Management Act (SMA)
