

Sustainable Microenterprise & Development PROGRAM

May 31–June 12, 2010, Durham, NH

on the University of New Hampshire campus

THE SUSTAINABLE MICROENTERPRISE AND DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM (SMDP—formerly the Microenterprise and Development Institute or MDI) offers its first training sessions since moving to the University of New Hampshire. The microfinance and enterprise development fields have weathered difficult challenges in the past year during the worst financial crisis in 50 years. It is more important than ever that our organizations are run effectively to meet the needs of poor entrepreneurs and communities hardest hit by the global recession. To help you meet your organizational goals, we have designed a curriculum that offers five learning tracks:

- INTRODUCTION TO MICROFINANCE – Malcolm Harper and Michael Spingler
 - MICROFINANCE ADVANCED SKILLS – Kadry Furany and Hugh Allen
 - PROPOOR ENTERPRISE DEVELOPMENT – Alexandra Snelgrove, Ann Gordon, and Alejandro Escobar
 - YOUTH-INCLUSIVE FINANCIAL SERVICES – Veronica Torres
 - SUSTAINABLE MICROFINANCE, SUSTAINABLE PLANET – Ellen Morris, Michael Swack, Jane Maes, Jeffrey Ashe, and Vinod Parmeshwar
- ◆ Field visits to Bretton Woods, the White Mountains, Boston, and the New Hampshire Seacoast
 - ◆ Weekly Sustainable Microfinance and Development Colloquia
 - ◆ Week One: Microfinance Client Rights—Institutional Responsibilities
 - ◆ Week Two: Defining Sustainable Development in a Time of Global Climate Change
 - ◆ Daily Sustainability Theory to Praxis Plenary morning sessions
 - ◆ Scholarships available from the MasterCard Foundation

For course and registration information, visit the Carsey Institute/SMDP at:

www.carseyinstitute.unh.edu/smdp/NH-main.html

Sponsored by the Carsey Institute at the University of New Hampshire.
Scholarship support provided by The MasterCard Foundation.

