Department Message

It's with great pleasure that we present to you Bedford Police Department's 2010 Annual Report. The Police Department is fortunate to enjoy active participation by our residents and businesses, and strong leadership by our Mayor, City Council and City Manager. Our accomplishments for the past year reflect the dedicated efforts of the men and women of this Police Department and our partnership with the community.

A safe city by most measures, Bedford is not immune from the types of crime that occur throughout this nation. However, our crime statistics are relatively low when measured against other cities comparable in size.

The Police Department continues to strive to provide superior service, yet remains cost conscious. During 2010, the Department applied and was awarded grant funding to purchase six fleet vehicles for our Criminal Investigations Division. These new 4 to 6-cylinder vehicles replaced older 8-cylinder units that previously served as first responding emergency units, thereby creating savings in both fuel and maintenance costs.

A highlight for the year included the addition of a police canine named "Bowy," and the resurrection of the canine program from two decades ago. This program was made possible in part by the Tarrant County Narcotics Unit who donated a portion of the costs to purchase the canine and also provided one vehicle for use by the canine handler. This program was designed with a dual purpose to serve both the Department and the Tarrant County Narcotics Unit with a police trained canine.

As we close out the first decade in the new millennium, exceptional customer service still remains at the forefront of every service we provide, both internally and externally. We welcome 2011 and embrace the changes and challenges that a new decade will bring.

Mission Statement

The Bedford Police Department and its members believe in the dignity and worth of all people. We are committed to:

- Providing high quality community-oriented policing services with sensitivity;
- Protecting constitutional rights;
- Problem solving;
- Teamwork;
- Openness;
- Planning for the future;
- Providing leadership to the police profession.

The commitment of the Bedford Police Department is to provide high quality law enforcement services to the citizens of this community. In addition, the Police Department is committed to the philosophy and organizational strategy of community-policing. Community-policing promotes a partnership between citizens and the police department and is based on the premise that the police and community must work together to improve the quality of life within the community. In the pursuit of these commitments, our mission statement is adhered to in the fulfillment of all departmental activities.

Department Personnel

During 2010, the Department experienced a 14% turnover rate, a 4% increase over 2009. Certified Officers represented the majority of the turnover rate.

The Bedford Police Department utilizes volunteers in a variety of functions throughout the Department. Volunteers help to minimize personnel costs, which ultimately saves taxpayer dollars. In 2010, the Department strategically deployed volunteers on a couple of occasions for surveillance details. This was the first year to utilize volunteers in this capacity. Volunteer hours in 2010 equated to a savings of $50,052 when compared against the Texas dollar value of a volunteer hour.

Internal Affairs

Members of the Bedford Police Department provide visible, direct public safety services to thousands of people each day. It is inevitable that some citizens will have questions, concerns or complaints about the Department, police procedures, or the conduct of the individual employee(s). The office of Internal Affairs conducts professional and objective investigations regarding allegations of misconduct. Each complaint is investigated thoroughly and a determination is made as to whether the conduct occurred as alleged, and if so, if the conduct was in compliance with law and department policies and procedures.

Racial Profiling

The Bedford Police Department, in accordance with the Texas Racial Profiling Law (Senate Bill No. 1074), collects traffic citation data for the purpose of identifying and responding, if necessary, to concerns regarding racial profiling practices.

The findings of the Bedford Police Department's racial profiling report for 2009 suggests that the Department does not currently experience a problem regarding racial profiling practices. This conclusion is supported by five years of historical data and the fact that there has not been any sustained complaint from the community regarding officer misconduct associated with racial profiling practices.

The Bedford Police Department rejects racial profiling as a law enforcement tactic. We do not encourage, tolerate or condone the use of racial profiling. We are committed to the use of sound police strategies based upon reasonable suspicion, probable cause, the judicious use of police discretion, and the continued development of community relationships.

Traffic & Citations

As in years past, traffic concerns continue to be the primary or leading source of complaints. The Traffic Division was formed many years ago in order to address our concerns and those of the community. The Traffic Division not only addresses traffic related problems, but they also respond to the majority of all accidents where police are needed/summoned.

Criminal Investigations

The Criminal Investigations Division (CID) is responsible for investigating all crimes against persons and/or property, including juvenile cases and special/undercover operations. In 2010, CID investigated 4,702 offense/incident cases and maintained an overall clearance rate of 70% for persons crimes and 16% for property crimes; compared to the national average of 47% for persons crimes and 18% for property crimes.

About Index Crime

Since 1930, the FBI has collected and compiled data to use in understanding and improving law enforcement administration, operation, and management, and to indicate fluctuations in the level of crime in America. Index crimes are the combination of eight categories of crime, selected because of their seriousness and frequency of occurrence.

Violent Crime
Murder	The willful killing of a person or death through the criminal act of another.
Criminal Sexual Assault	Broader than the traditional definition of "rape" (the carnal knowledge of a female, forcibly and against her will), this category includes any sexual assault - completed or attempted, aggravated or non-aggravated - committed against any victim, female or male.
Robbery	The taking of or attempting to take anything of value from the care or custody of a person by force or threat of force.
Aggravated Assault/Battery	The intentional causing of serious bodily harm, attempt to cause serious bodily harm, or threat of serious bodily injury or death. This category includes aggravated assaults, aggravated battery, and attempted murder.

Property Crime
Burglary	The unlawful entry of a structure to commit a felony or theft, or an attempt to do so.
Theft	The unlawful taking or attempted taking of property or articles without the use of force, violence or fraud.
Motor Vehicle Theft	The unlawful taking of or attempt to take a motor vehicle.
Arson	The willful or malicious burning or attempt to burn a house or other building, motor vehicle, aircraft, or personal property of another.

Crime Victimization

According to the 2009 National Criminal Victimization Survey (NCVS):

- An estimated 4.3 million violent crimes, 15.6 million property crimes, and 133,000 personal thefts were committed against U.S. residents age 12 or older in 2009.
- Violence against males, blacks, and persons age 24 or younger occurred at higher or somewhat higher rates than the rates of violence against females, whites, and persons age 25 or older in 2009.
- About half (49%) of all violent crimes and about 40% of all property crimes were reported to the police in 2009. Violent crimes against females (53%) were more likely to be reported than violent crimes against males (45%).

The cites of Bedford, Hurst and Euless fund one full-time Crime Victims/Domestic Violence Coordinator who promptly assists victims of crime to receive necessary resources, including resources to remove themselves from a volatile situation or living condition.

In 2010, Domestic Violence cases increased by 3%, marking a steady increase over the past four years.

Incident Base Reporting

About National Incident Base Reporting System, NIBRS

Many of the statistics in this report reflect National Incident Base Reporting System, NIBRS, data for the calendar year 2010 (January 1 through December 31). Bedford is one of the few cities that have switched from Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) to NIBRS. NIBRS was designed in cooperation with the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) and the National Sheriffs Association to replace the existing Uniform Crime Reporting summary system. The major differences between the two reporting systems is that NIBRS had additional and expanded Part 1 Offenses for better crime analysis, and statistical data is magnetically submitted (e.g. disk, electronic submission). Further, NIBRS collects data on each single incident and arrest.

NIBRS Groups

NIBRS has two groups for reporting, Group A and Group B. Group A offense category consists of up to forty-six categories, whereas UCR only captures eight. Group B offense categories are for arrest data only. Group B offenses only come to law enforcement attention when arrests are made. Statistically, there was a 4% increase in both Group A and Group B Offenses from 2009 to 2010.
