FRAGMENTS

AI personal Assistant that remembers everything so you don't have to http://www.fragmentsbot.com/

Product

Fragments provides a natural way of storing your memories and information - just chat to tell it everything and let it take care of organising it all. Whenever you want a piece of information, ask Fragments to recall it for you.

In this age of information overload, we tend to fill up our minds with information & data that we don't immediately need. Fragments helps you lighten your brain so you can be more creative in the things you like doing the most.

No need to maintain diaries or lists again!

Traction

- 500 BETA testers
- 450 downloads in 10 days of launch with ₹0 spent on marketing.
- Accepted into FBStart - Facebook's program exclusively for Mobile Startups providing benefits worth 40,000 USD.
- We're also in discussion with the FBStart team for exclusive mentorship & product integrations.

Team

Raghav Dua is a Full stack Developer who built Fragments end-to-end - from the android app to the back end, the Machine Learning algorithms and datasets.

Raghav has been writing software since he was 13. The open source modules he has published have seen over 7,000 downloads. He co-created a project that has 700 likes on ProductHunt and became Github's most trending Repository with 9,000 upvotes.
There are two interns and a mentor assisting Raghav in taking this product to the masses.

Technology

- Facebook's language processing platform (https://wit.ai/) + our Proprietary Algorithms and Datasets developed over the past 6 months
- Hosted on AWS and is powered by Node.js and MongoDB.
  We are laser focused on developing technology that organizes the user's memories as a network of information.

We're working closely with Facebook-backed technologies to maximize our reach.
