

Steamboat Days Sand Sculpting Event 2016

September 2nd - 4th 2016

This project will be a unique ephemeral experience yielding a signature sand sculpture as the anchor demonstrating artist event during the 2016 Steamboat Days Festival in Jeffersonville, Indiana.

The vision is the area under the pavilion's protection at Big Four Station Park situated at the base of the Big Four walking bridge will provide a canopy for a larger-than-life sand sculpture. The piece will tie in thematically with the festival and will be created by a team of artists.

Surrounding the perimeter of the large sand sculpture will be an arrangement of sandboxes that the community can create in as they listen, learn and become inspired by what they are viewing!

'Sands of Time' progressive sand sculpting event

Watch lead artist Joe Autry and his team create a massive sand sculpture during Steamboat Days 2016! OR, you try sand sculpting in a community sandbox on site!

When: Sept 2nd - 4th

Where: Big Four Park
Jeffersonville, IN –
Under the pavilion

Why: Why not?!

Check out
jeffsteamboatdays.com

