

Reptilian Ship Destroyed By Andromeda Council

On the Andromeda Council Primary Biosphere ship, Analaiia Valdez, who is an avatar contact to the Star Traveler, witnessed how the laser hyper fusion beam was fired to destroy the Reptilian space ship that was passing by deep underwater near Victoria, British Columbia Canada. Analaiia (looks like actress Tricia Helfer) has a similar soul life spark to the Star Traveler (Elena Kapulnik) so they interface with each other on a regular basis on the Andromeda Primary Biosphere ship.

This is what the laser hyper fusion beam looks like that was fired from the biosphere ship which is in near space orbit to Earth right now.

The beam was fired at 11:49 pm midnight on December 29, 2015 when the reptilian war ship was first noticed passing by underwater by the Andromeda Council plasma sonar radars at 11:30 pm Earth time.

There were two localized laser beam blasts fired by the Andromeda primary biosphere ship. One blast was fired to completely stop the reptilian ship in the water. The second blast was fired to destroy the ship.

The destruction of the reptilian ship exploding underwater caused a large radius blast that registered as a 4.9 earthquake on the Richter scale near Victoria, B.C., Canada.

Reptilian Ship Destroyed By Andromeda Council

This is one of the main observational decks from which the Andromeda Council astronomers observe what happens on Earth and detect negative ET's who are either orbiting nearby close to the planet or are on Earth.

Negative ET ships are either in the Earth skies or traveling underwater in the oceans so special deep space sonar radars are used to find these ships and neutralize them so they cannot do any damage on the planet surface.

Reptilian Ship Destroyed By Andromeda Council

In the beginning of December, 2015, Elena was told by Analalaia that the various Earth world timelines were being monitored by the Andromeda Council and that there would be a strike blast of something being disintegrated soon. It was suggested to Elena that she secure everything that is valuable to her to the walls so Elena went out and got vacuum wall clamps that she attached to her spiritual closet walls and hung up her six staffs that were made from wood and semi precious crystal stones. Elena also took down the heavy spiritual items in her crystal meditation room and put them on the floor temporarily, as well Elena cleaned out her spiritual closet so there were no heavy items located on the top shelves for when the strike blast would hit.

All of these precautions helped to keep Elena's stuff safe and listening to her higher dimensional Andromeda Council contact person was of importance because the warning that a strike blast would happen between December 23 – December 29, 2015 did occur. Since Elena had forewarning of what was to come she had sufficient time to prepare for the event and was not worried or scared when it happened.

Reptilian Ship Destroyed By Andromeda Council

Reptilian needle nosed round/circular type space ship that was traveling underwater near Victoria, British Columbia, Canada to destroy the newly opened natural star gate way portal in the Canadian Rocky Mountains. The star gate way portal opened up on December 25, 2015 when there was a powerful Full Moon and a rare planetary alignment, these events brought in the new advanced light codons and DNA upgrades to the awakening people of Earth in order to speed up the ascension process.

These were the two Alpha Draconian reptilian species that were on the war ship. There was ten reptilian crew members and the rest were the human cabal members traveling on the ship. In total there was 100 crew members on the reptilian ship.

When the reptilian ship was destroyed only thirty crew members survived, four reptilians and the other cabal human members.

Reptilian Ship Destroyed By Andromeda Council

On the far left side in the white background is the reptilian life pod that was on their war ship. Three of these life pods escaped the ship with the thirty crew members. One of the life pods was totally damaged during the explosion of the war ship so it was just sitting dead in the water after the blast. The other two life pods were able to travel away from the blast site. All three life pods will be collected and the crew members will be tried in the light court tribunals for their crimes. The medium sized reptilian life pods can hold ten – fourteen people in each pod.

These reptilian and cabal human crew members will either be given the choice to be rehabilitated so they can do good on the light side, leave the known universe and be exiled to another dimension on a far off planet in deep space where they cannot come back to their own galaxy, or they will be offered the option of self destructing and returning back to the source of light.

Reptilian Ship Destroyed By Andromeda Council

The reptilian ships are usually either grey, or greenish/purple in color so they blend in when they are in outer space in terms of camouflage.

All reptilian ships have advanced cloaking systems so normal space radars cannot pick them up on scans, only deep space sonar radar can pinpoint the exact locations of reptilian ships. As well reptilian ships are heavily armed with photon torpedo's, plasma canons, and pulse firing long sensor beam weapons.

Reptilian Ship Destroyed By Andromeda Council

Reptilians have heavy protective armor plating that they wear so they cannot easily be injured or killed during battle. The reptilian underwater ships are very fast and they cannot be detected or tracked on normal radar while the ships are underwater.

The Alpha Draconian reptilians were traveling underwater since they wanted to create maximum damage in the Canadian Rocky mountains by blowing up the natural star gate way portal from underneath the ocean so a large disturbance would be created on the ocean floor thereby stirring up the tectonic plates and manifesting a large megathrust earthquake which could cost lives on the planet.

Reptilian Ship Destroyed By Andromeda Council

The hyper fusion beam laser blast that took out the reptilian ship near Victoria was localized in its target blast parameters to only destroy the ship and nothing else so little damage would be caused on the ocean floor as well as to make sure there would not be any tsunamis caused by the destruction of the reptile ship.

Everything was done at night in terms of taking out the reptilian ship and it was all accomplished in a quiet manner so there was no loss of life to anyone but the reptilian crew on the ship.

Reptilian Ship Destroyed By Andromeda Council

REPTILIANS

Origin: Alpha Draconian

Agenda: Conquer & Destruction

Life Span: 500 Earth Years

Ship Shape: Cigar, Tear Drop, & Circular

Base: Technologies & Genetic Manipulation

Reptilian Ship Destroyed By Andromeda Council

REPTOID HUMANOID-LIKE BEING

BASIC PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION

Reptilians are known to come from the Draco Star System; however, very few people know about the various kinds of reptilian aliens that exist.

Reptoids are Reptilians that are known to look like humans with a firm & slender body and stand between 6 to 9 feet tall.

Reptoid Aliens have very long arms and legs but are very muscular in comparison to the average human being. They have three (3) long fingers and one thumb for each hand. Their skin is very scaly with a dark green - brownish color, similar to Earth's reptilian animals. Reptoids are known to have tails; however, recent reports have confirmed Reptoid aliens with no tails.

Reptoid Alien Eyes: There are two forms of eyes that Reptoid aliens have. They either have two very large black eyes with vertical slit pupils or large white eyes with "flame-like" slit pupils.

Reptoid Head: Their heads are slightly conical and have bony ridges riding from their brow across their back sloping skull and toward the back of their head. Their nasal openings are at the end of a small and flattened nose and are two small slits that slant upwards. Some have reported to see holes (slits) where ears would normally be found on a human but it is unclear if these accounts are accurate.

Reptilian Ship Destroyed By Andromeda Council

REPTILIAN ALIENS: DRACO (WINGED) SOMETIMES

BASIC PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION

Draco: This is another class of Reptilian Aliens called the Draco. They are known for their tall stature (6 to 9 feet tall as well as being 14 feet tall for the white Royal Dracos) and wings that expand 6 to 7 feet (not all Draco reptilians have wings). Like the Reptoid Reptilian Aliens, Draco's have a similar body structure but do have some distinct differences.

Horns: Unlike the Reptoid Reptilian Aliens, the Draco's have been seen to have horns protrude from their heads and sometimes down their spine, not all Draco reptilians have horns.

Wings: Made up of bones and scaly skin, these wings give the Draco aliens a distinctive look from all other beings. Some say that these wings can grow so long at times it looks like they are wearing a cape. These wings could extent anywhere between 6 to 7 feet.

Analysis: These aliens are not seen as commonly as the Reptoid kind and can account for some of our histories myths and folklore about dragons and winged gods that come from the sky.

Reptilians evolved in two separate planets, one was Earth and the other was a planet near the brightest star in the Draco constellation (Draconis). From these two distant planets, two distinctly different races of Reptilians would evolve and would help shape our planet and civilization as we know it today. As the two Reptilian races evolved, it was known that the Earthly Reptoids were a peaceful and “good” race, and the Draconian Reptilians evolved with a “warrior” and “evil” spirit.

Reptilian Ship Destroyed By Andromeda Council

Reptilians from the Draco system are manipulative and deceiving by nature. These Reptilians are so advance that, like Arcturians, they have surpassed the physical limitations of their material bodies. Reptilian Aliens from the Draco Constellation ingest their nutrients through energy, but their needed food source is "bad" or "evil" energy. This inherent fact makes self-preservation and evil agenda for the Reptilian Aliens from the Draco Constellation. Reptilian Aliens from the Draco Constellation are also rumored to have created the race of aliens that we know of as Greys. This creation of a species was necessary for their survival as a race.

As the Draconian civilization continued to grow and expand, they needed new sources of nutrition. Seeking other planets to infest with their evil agenda, they soon came to realize that a creation of cloned "evil" race would benefit them. Grey Aliens were created as a slave race to the Reptilians; however, as the Reptilians grew in numbers, so did the Greys. Soon a revolution would take place that would give birth to the Grey Aliens and their Agenda to find a cure for their cloned race that is slowly dying.

Draconian Reptilians soon began to look for a new source of energy consumption and came across our planet (Earth). Here they observed a highly advanced race of Reptilian-like aliens known as Reptoids. Seeking to utilize the human's population on Earth, Draconian Reptilians sought out to destroy the Earth evolved Reptilians and began their Reptilian Agenda to manipulate a race of evil minded humans for their energy consumption. After successfully forcing many Earth evolved reptilians to leave Earth, Draconian Reptilians began to work their way into, and influence, civilizations of the past. Rumored reports state that some Earth evolved Reptilians still exist beneath the streets and farms of our planet, secretly counter acting the Draconian Reptilian Alien agenda.

Today, power struggles among the Alien forces have thwarted an outright invasion of our planet. Reptilian Aliens from the Draco Constellation still have a fixed eye on our planet and do have emissaries here on Earth performing the vital tasks to ensure that humans remain on the track of corruption, hatred, and ego-centric goals!

Reptilian Ship Destroyed By Andromeda Council

All the information about the Reptilian characteristics and species data came from the Arcturi.com website.