

Dear Supporter—

Big news! The Build Back Better Act pending in Congress contains new drug pricing policies, particularly a $35 per month out-of-pocket cap on insulin for people with Medicare, employer-sponsored coverage, or insurance bought on the ACA marketplace starting in 2023. This is a large step forward in affordability for this life-saving drug for the T1D Community and we are grateful for our T1D champions in Congress for this progress. We need your help to ensure the insulin affordability provisions remain in the final bill. Please take a moment and contact your U.S. Representative and Senators TODAY!

JDRF has passionately advocated—both publicly and privately—to Congress, health plans, employers, pharmacy benefit managers, and manufacturers for long-term solutions for insulin affordability. JDRF staff and advocates from across the country have met with hundreds of Members of Congress and more than 50,000 supporters have petitioned their health plans. We are committed to continuing to work with Congress, the Biden Administration, and all other stakeholders to ensure everyone—whether they have Medicare, commercial insurance or no insurance at all—has access to affordable insulin while we advance research to one day cure T1D.

Visit www.jdrf.org/AffordableInsulin to contact YOUR Members of Congress. Please share this alert with friends and family and urge them to do the same!

Sincerely,
JDRF Advocacy
