

Valley Arts Council President DiCarlo teaches watercolor class

Photos by Patricia Villers
Jan. 12, 2016

Rich DiCarlo, president of the Valley Arts Council, is not only an artist of repute, but a teacher as well. Last month, Patti chronicled a watercolor class he was teaching at the Derby Public Library.

In this free class, he led the 20 students in watercolor techniques. DiCarlo simplified the subject matter by showing students that what they are about to paint is made up of several simple shapes. The attached pictures and slideshow allow us to see not just the teacher but also the students as they accomplish their artistry.

See the Blog: <http://thevalley-voicect.blogspot.com/2015/12/derby-artist-teaches-step-by-step.html>

Double-click on the slideshow to open and play

