Follow biologist Alex Morton as she unravels the mysteries of BC's declining salmon stocks using some of the world's top fish labs. What she uncovers will surprise anyone who cares about our fish and all that depends on them. This 70-minute film documents Morton's journey as she attempts to overcome roadblocks thrown up by government agencies and bring critical information to the public in time to save BC's wild salmon. Learn about our changing coastal ecology, grassroots science-based activism, and the inner workings of government agencies tasked with overseeing our fish and the safety of our food supply. "Salmon Confidential" is a film for all Canadians.

When I was forwarded this link the question was posed by my friend Mike, Could this happen here? My answer was that it looks to me like it is happening here already regarding the proposed Salmon farm in Galway Bay. There are so many resonances between the demise of salmon and sea trout in Ireland and what happening to the Sockeye Salmon in the Frazer River in British Columbia.

The BIM EIS ignoring the science behind anglers concerns about Sea Lice and escapees. The role of the Marine Institute seems to be one of enthusiastic supporter of salmon farms. No doubt there will be a lot of work for marine biologists if this get the go ahead.
