HOW EARTHQUAKES WORK

So many scientists believe that earthquakes are caused by movement of Techtronic plates and acceleration of the earth but while doing spiritual research, I have evaluated a phenomenon that holds the key to earthquakes such as the ones happening in Japan, China, America and elsewhere.

The secret to earthquakes is to spoil in order to clean, remove and put in place. The energy of the earthquakes comes as force from space and when it reaches earth's atmosphere it turns into powerful currents.

- The stars are used for pinpointing the target.
- The moon has vaporized gas which has got magnetism. This vaporized gas marks the target destination that has been aligned by the star.
- A very powerful force is released from the sun following the magnetism that has aligned the route towards the target destination.

Depending on the orders the earthquake effect creates tornados, rain, electrical currents, fires, blizzards, diseases, wars, upheaval, at times repentance, dejection. Nobody knows the outcome but the consequent results are visible. And nobody has got control over it.

When the electrical force descends, it is full of heat and magnetic currents and depending on what shield it has come in contact with, it may break the earth to create a gorge or act otherwise. Our people call this energy Kiwanuka. Its ferocity and currents circulate to find an escape route by twisting and turning. This creates a horizontal valley through which this force moves until it comes in contact with another spoiler zone to produce other effects.

On earth, for every given distances there is a spoiler zone that is responsible for a big part weather system on the planet. Each spoiler zones has got electrical fields which are averagely as high as the distance to the clouds from earth's surface. The electrical fields or shields can be compared to boat sails. Each spoiler zone has got nine electrical shields all rotating on one pivot. Each sail or field has got a rivet attaching each to the pivot. However three propeller shields (No.7) share one rivet which attaches them to the pivot to make seven rivets though the electrical shields are nine.

1. The Banana Shield projects the energy into the earth and breaks the crust to create a rift valley. This shield is responsible for moving the Techtronic plates. It is argued that this action is meant to contain or reduce the intensity while on the other hand to can be perceived as ferocious or hazardous.

2. The Projector Shield captures this energy and projects it back up in space to create circular currents such as Tornados. Its intensity varies from blowing the roofs off to carrying sizeable items such as trucks for a considerable distance. In fact that is where the saying, “It raining cats and dogs” came from!
3. Condenser Shield absorbs all this energy to the extent that there is minimal effect in order to protect people and other living creatures. What is surprising is that, at the time of energy descend; some shields are active while others are dormant.
4. The Blizzard Shield absorbs this energy and sends out a cooling effect depending on the strength of the energy. It could vary from light cold storms to really intense blizzards. It explains why some places are really cold year on year.
5. Direction Shield captures the energy before or after impact and directs it to destination depending on the orders where it is wanted or needed.
6. Emperor Shield captures this energy and blows out heat or fire. This may provide explanation to the El-Niño effect that is melting ice in the North Pole as opposed to solely compartmentalizing it environment degradation.
7. The Propeller Shield projects it to reduce or increase its intensity to produce other effects.

The Spoiler Zones;

- Play a big part in influencing the weather patterns on earth.
- They keep the earth in motion or work as charging system as result of the force coming into contact with the spoiler zones.
- They can work singularly or as combination.
- It is yet to be confirmed but they seem to be spread out 1,000 miles from each other.

These are some of spoiler zones according this research; Walusi, Nevada and Mt Sinai. Our people call Earthquakes, Musisi and below is what they see when it is about to strike.
